

C-SPAN NETWORK?

8/23/93

Oh no not this again! Seems like people will use "for the good of our children" to curtail any kind of an activity, or personal freedom they can. Enough already.

I have watched all kinds of movies my entire life including at a young age and guess what? I am not an murderer, or a thief or an immoral person that believes in illicit sex.

Please people, discipline begins at home, you cannot ask a television network to be responsible for what a child may do behind a parent's back, furthermore, family practices and parental behavior are largely responsible for what our children become, not TVs.

It is up to each parent to decide what their children watch, and to train that child to be obedient and they cannot do this effectively by taking away someone else's choices.
