

April 21, 1992

[REDACTED]

Ann Arbor, MI. 48105

Brian Lamb
C-SPAN
400 N. Capitol St. NW
Washington, DC 20001

Sir,

As a loyal and longstanding C-SPAN watcher and listener I regard BOOKNOTES as an important feature of your programming.

While this is surely the political season perhaps you may provide a useful respite by inviting the authors of the following to spend an hour with you:

Neil Postman, TECHNOPOLY (The Surrender of Culture to Technology), NY, Knopf, 1992.

John Kenneth Galbraith, THE CULTURE OF CONTENTMENT, Boston, Houghton Mifflin, 1992.

I am sure that both are known to you; they're both articulate and their writings reflect points of view that need to be heard --a hour of intelligent discussion with each would be a tremendous program slot.

All the best (and Thank God for C-SPAN!)

[REDACTED]

VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION