Never

The balanced-budget amendment for to pass the Senate it have been hearing scare-tactics used by the Republicans. Not to cut everything out for lower class Americans.
Eliminate the president's proposed minimum-wage.
Herald news-paper said if minimum wage was raised to $5 an hour over a 2-year span it would bring them up to $8,800 a year gross. Then it said several (not 1 or 2, but many) Senators + Congressmen getting $139,000 a year can't afford an apartment, and have to sleep in their office. Tonight Sen.
Dominici was on radio with Ross Perot. The Senator did most of the talking, said there really is no Social Security trust fund. It's being spent as fast as it comes in. The American people will have to learn to do without Social Security in the future. He been paying in for 47 years - since the age of 10, and the way he told it tonight where I'm old enough to retire at 67 I'll have to keep on working. Can't Congress take a pay-cut?

Hello:

Ever since the balanced-budget amendment failed to pass the Senate it have been hearing scare-tactics used by the Republicans. Not to cut everything out for lower class Americans. Eliminate the president's proposed minimum-wage. Local news-paper said if minimum wage was raised to $5 an hour over a 2-year span it would bring them up to $8,800 a year gross. Then it said several (not 1 or 2, but many) Senators + Congressmen getting $139,000 a year can't afford an apartment, and have to sleep in their office. Tonight Sen. Dominici was on radio with Ross Perot. The Senator did most of the talking, said there really is no Social Security trust funds. All being spent as fast as it comes in. The American people will have to learn to do without Social Security in the future. He been paying in for 47 years - since the age of 10, and the way he told it tonight ~~where~~ I'm old enough to retire at 67 I'll have to keep on working. Can't Congress take a pay-cut? Or aren't they the American people? On your road to the White House, Lamar Alexander sounds like best choice for Republican.

Over Arlen Specter, Bob Dole, Mr. Graham of Texas. One big question. If a councilman wants to run for Mayor, he (or she) must resign from City Council to raise funds - why do members of Congress get paid for running for President. Does a House member get paid if running for Senate?
