Dear C N -

Last Fri. p.m.

(I'm not sure if Fri
or was the weekend) you
had a program on the Rights to Die - ~~to~~ with
Am. Assoc. & law whole
what I listened to was
excellent, because some states (on C N's line - not by T.V.) cut large portions off - will you be repeating
the program? or
mailing copies of the entire program? Please

Write if you
to report it - as
I would like to
hear the rest of the
program - or at
least have copy of the
entire report -

I thoroughly
enjoy your station
& the programs - keep up the good work - but
don't forget Right & Fair!
Thank you

THIS IS ANOTHER NO-WIN WAR

BUSH'S WAR IS WORSE THAN VIETNAM
BECAUSE WE HAVE ALREADY LOST IT.
IT'S ANOTHER NO-WIN WAR

Thoughtful American taxpayers and citizens should look beyond the initial euphoria caused by the mass slaughter in Iraq (more than 100,000 civilian casualties in Bagdad as of January 20) and consider the future, even if such an exercise may diminish their enthusiasm for all the gore.

The great pundits and intellectuals who are bringing this "extravaganza/propaganda" into our homes via the magic of TV never tire of assuring us that "This will not be another Vietnam," and "We are fighting to win this time."

The two statements are not necessarily compatible. The master strategists who brought us the bitter cup of defeat in Vietnam fought a no-win war, meaning that they tried to lose.

(Incidentally, during the Vietnam War they all lied, denying that they were deliberately fighting to lose. Now they admit it. So you now believe that they're telling you the truth about this war?)

Contrary to Vietnam, the present war will not be fought to lose.

It will be fought to win.

But because it is impossible to win this war,

We will inevitably lose it. Thus,

THIS IS ANOTHER NO-WIN WAR

and our defeat will be far, far greater than that in Vietnam.

Why is this war a loser? Why can't we win it? Here are some reasons:

- The absolute minimum cost of this war will be a trillion dollars and the cost will drag on for years and years. The American economy, in its weak condition (created mainly by the same free-trade theorists who are directing the war) cannot support this loss on top of everything else. The cost of the war will complete the devastation of the economy.

- Even if we win the battles quickly and conquer Iraq, the cost of providing minimum sustenance for the subjugated civilians and trying to repair enough of the devastated country to get the country functioning again will be astronomical.

- Even if we win the battles and kill Saddam's troops by the hundreds of thousands, our troops will have to remain in the area indefinitely. Perpetual guerrilla warfare against our troops and continuing casualties are to be expected. The annual cost in lives and dollars cannot be estimated.

America First

- The war will—and already is—turning all of the Moslem and third world people around the world against us. It is a total public relations disaster for America—once the world's beacon of hope. Our destruction of Bagdad and the Israeli pulverizing of Tikrit cannot be approved by any decent person.

- Terrorism inside America is to be expected indefinitely, and thanks to the lunatics who have made our national borders as porous as a sieve terrorism could get serious.

- The Bill of Rights is certain to be set aside if terrorism becomes a problem. If the war continues, critics are likely to be thrown into concentration camps with real or imagined terrorists.

- If the war escalates to a ground war and American casualties mount, social upheaval is to be expected, especially among minorities.

- War always destabilizes the social order, and is felt in a million ways. The effects of the Vietnam misadventure created tremendous changes in the way America thinks, acts and looks, and none were to the good. Respect for America and the American system will further erode, especially among youth, which will identify the criminal brutality of this "kinder and gentler" war as the American system.

- War upsets all business plans, projections and calculations. It will bankrupt millions and make fortunes for the dregs of society, the sleazy crooks, con men and profiteers who always surface during war.

- War always increases the size and power of the government. Expect more socialism, more bureaucracy, more corruption, more government interference, more restrictions on the law-abiding public.

- The war channels attention toward itself, and away from the really important things that are happening in America and the rest of the world. It thus paralyzes attempts to cure our own ills as we insanely try to cure the ills of others.

- The fact is, there is absolutely nothing of any value whatsoever that the American people can derive from this war. This is not to say that no one will profit from it. Many will, but not the people who are supposed to be running this onetime Republic.

- Most importantly, this is a no-win war because there is no legitimate war aim—a war aim visualizing an attainable goal in the interests of the United States that will justify the cost. The reasons that Bush has given for this war are pathetic but the best he can come up with. Because there is no legitimate war aim, we lost the war the instant it started.

- The real purposes of the war are to destroy an enemy of Israel, to perpetuate the Trilateral monopoly on Mideast oil, to further move America toward a world government (Bush's "New World Order"), and to distract attention from the corruption of the crooks in the federal government. These will be the winners of the war; everybody else except the Arabian and Kuwaiti oilgarchs will be the losers.

So not everyone will lose the war.

Only the people who have to fight and pay for it.
That's why

THIS IS ANOTHER NO-WIN WAR

Too Many Arab People?

RATS

I smell a rat, or at least the work of rats. The way all of the heads of states in the coalition against Iraq have been playing footsie with one another, I think they have come up with the way to combat the world's most serious problem: overpopulation.

It sounds like a joke, and maybe it is, but I for one do not discount the possibility. I do not want war used as a method to control population growth.

IMPRESSED

I have just finished reading your December 24 issue and am more than ever impressed with your newspaper. Every article was extremely interesting and informative.

Regarding the crisis in the gulf, at first I applauded the president's decision to send troops to the area, but after reading the numerous articles in The SPOTLIGHT and careful reflection on the events since August, I now believe we have only become further involved in a no-win situation, in an area that has for more than 3,000 years been in constant turmoil.

SCARED

Your material on executive orders (SPOTLIGHT, Jan. 7 & 14) scares the pants off me. I am 85 and have five grandchildren, all of draft age. Is Congress aware of this high and mighty power? Are these orders superior to laws made by Congress and the Supreme Court? Why hasn't this been exposed by all the media, the preachers in the pulpits and the universities?

I think that if it were properly exposed, the entire country would rise and demand expulsions from office of all officials.

CLAUDE L. FLY

CLEAR

Mike Blair's article on presidential executive orders in the January 7 & 14 issue is so clear that even the least politically aware citizens should be able to understand it.

I suggest that his article be reprinted for wide distribution. With George Bush sitting in the White House, we'd better do a better job of reaching the masses than we've ever done before.

SUGGESTION

I never see in the newspaper that Israel is as close to a communist country as you can get. The SPOTLIGHT should do a story on this.

JACK FAIRCHILD

CALL FOR IMPEACHMENT

Thank you. I've been praying that many would call for George Bush's impeachment, and for the resignation of Secretary of State James Baker. Bless you for your editorial in the January 21 issue. Remember, however, we don't want Dan Quayle for president. God save us from this foolish war.

COINCIDENCE

How strange and unsettling a coincidence that at the same time that Mikhail "Nobel Peace Prize winner" Gorbachev ordered troops to Lithuania to suppress freedom of speech by seizing newspapers and radio stations, I read that George "Kinder and Gentler" Bush has the same plans for The SPOTLIGHT and in all probability Radio Free America as well.

INCONSISTENT

I believe our use of force against Iraq to prove that might does not establish right is quite inconsistent if the UN will not condemn such Soviet action against Lithuania and Latvia. Its selective use based on political expediency is wrong.

Tom Toles

BEN H. MATTESON

(For an examination of just how inconsistent and hypocritical our political leaders are in this regard, see our stories on page 8 and on pages 12 and 13. —Ed.)

BROACHING THE SUBJECT

Well, it finally happened. I heard him say it on national television. He said it so smoothly it had to have been deliberate. He probably figured everyone would be concentrating on important things like football and Mrs. Bush's broken leg.

The important thing is, George Bush said the words "world government" on TV, on January 13. Did it shock you, did it prepare you for the next step; or did you just not hear it at all?

Thank God for The SPOTLIGHT that makes it possible for some of us to see where we are going and not constantly curse the dark.

MAXIM

I have just one comment on your article "Rogue's Gallery" in the December 17, 1990 issue of The SPOTLIGHT, in which you described the leaders of the nations in Bush's "international coalition" against Iraq, including Assad, Ozal, Hassan, Mubarak etc. I can only say, tell me with whom you associate and I will tell you what you are.

BREAK FROM HISTORY

For many decades there has been an axiom that Democrats bring us wars and Republicans bring us depressions. The main exception to this was President Eisenhower, who served two full terms and avoided both.

Now we have another exception, George Bush, who has now brought us depression and war together in two short years.

'BEST EDITORIAL'

Amazing. Your recent editorial (SPOTLIGHT, Jan. 21) is your best I've ever read—and I've been a subscriber since 1978.
