Dear Brian:

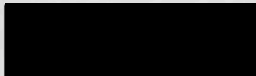

Enclosed is a copy of a letter I recently sent to Christopher DeMuth at the American Enterprise Institute asking that they consider you for their Francis Boyer Award in 2002. I received a nice response from Mr. DeMuth indicating I was not the first person to suggest this and that they would take it up at their Council meeting. I hope it happens. It's time that you were recognized for your good work.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Enclosure

Dear Mr. DeMuth:

As an Associate of the AEI, I write to ask that the AEI's Council of Academic Advisers consider awarding the 2002 Francis Boyer Award to Mr. Brian Lamb, Chairman and CEO of CSPAN.

Mr. Lamb has made a practical contribution to society the impact of which grows daily. It was a stroke of brilliant originality to shine klieg lights on America's executive, legislative, and judicial branches of government, and on much more, twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week.

Mr. Lamb's original idea and continuing efforts have done more to enlighten and educate Americans of all ages and socioeconomic backgrounds about our democracy than anyone in recent history. The contributions of CSPAN television and CSPAN on the Web have enriched our society to an incredible degree. His idea for making government more accessible to the people through the electronic media is now spreading to other countries. Awarding Mr. Lamb the Francis Boyer Award will recognize Mr. Lamb's achievements.

Sincerely,
