re: Rock 'n Roll; Peace in Our Time, etc...

Dear Brian:

Hey, Brian. You gotta take responsibility to straighten out an issue: The B-52s which we ain't seein'.

All we see on t.v. are the fighter bombers, and God love 'em, they're great. But we know the B-52's are up there doin' some task, and we know there have to be cameras pointing down out of those large bomb bay doors, taking in what is happening to the Republican Guard, or whatever else they're doing.

But we citizens and you media types are being manipulated on this issue. Cause I don't hear about the no doubt tremendous psychological damage being done to Saddam's troops by this important part of our war effort.

Of course the reason we don't see it is the military don't want us to see it, cause in addition to psychological damage, physical damage and death is happening at the other end of those bomb trajectories.

But if this war ends without invasion by our ground troops, it'll be because those poor Iraqi soldiers elect to leave their trenches and walk across the desert into our open and (non-military) arms. If they do that, it'll be because of what those bombers are doing to them, their supplies, and their rear lines.

And you and I aren't seeing any of it. It's your fault cause I watch you every morning. Please take care of this at once. Thanx.

Sincerely,
