Dear Brian Lamb & C-Span:

Crossfire is not a "show" I give much attention as is clear from your interview of M.K. The "conservatives" are not the only reason. For all of the hype about him M.K. is a most interesting person. He dresses slobslike, his body does not move and you could not prove he has facial muscles - so much for passion. I will certainly reserve judgement on his deal with Microsoft. M.K.'s presentation suggests a subtle but strong and important deception. I sense a lot of garbage disguised by the good stuff. And just now he gets to (over)
