

Re: American Presidents series

Polk

This could have been a valuable contribution to American history and some of the guest speakers have been worthy of hearing speak on the subject.

a American

However, there was no value in taking calls from the public because it was obvious that the majority who called had an agenda and ~~would~~ meant to disrupt the objective analysis and informative mission of this series. Since there is a current obsessive hysteria being encouraged by the media and educational elite which does not reflect the interest of the majority of Americans who are not black or homosexual you would do better not to take calls. I assume that is now part of your agenda, because one must follow the money.
