I do not know your political leanings. This should be considered by you a compliment to your skills as a host and moderator. It is not important for me to know your political philosophy. It is important for me to let you know of my respect for your abilities.

Dear Brian Lamb,

Please let me compliment you on your poise and presence while serving as host and moderator on C-Span. You are one of the few in such positions who does not have to be a "star". As a result, I consider you one. Not in a sense of adoration, but because you know your job and you do it with excellence.

I just finished watching you spend an hour and a half with Governor King, Racicot, and Dean. Being a sixth generation Vermonter, I am sorry to say that the Governor of Montana impressed me the most. His humility and use of the word "serve" gave me hope that there are a few in public office who know the true meaning of being

2 an elected public servant. I have written him a letter letting him know of my sentiments.

I have often tried to call in to C-Span, but I have just as often been foiled by a busy signal. I was most embarrassed when Senator Leahy was interviewed some time ago. It is heartbreaking to me that I cannot be proud of those who represent my beloved State of Vermont. His response to the gentlemen from the South who called asking about job opportunities in Vermont was so humiliating that I wanted to cry. In essence, what he said was "we don't want any lazy black people coming into the State." When another caller wanted him to directly answer the question, he stated he had already done so. Shame!

The picture on this stationery is the church I attended while I grew up in Plymouth. My family

3 had lived in Plymouth on our family farm which was in our family for many generations. My grandfather and father had represented Plymouth in the state legislature. My grandfather was part of the Coolidge Campaign Caravan, and my father was the instigator of the Coolidge Memorial Foundation. My interest in the political arena started at a very young age.

I am a strong believer in a "republic under constitutional law". We no longer have this type of government. We have given credence to the word "democracy" which our forefathers clearly stated was the worst form of government, because it will lead to anarchy and then dictatorship. We are seeing this happen before our very eyes. We are now governed by agencies and commissions. We are represented by people who have no idea what the actual wording or consequences of bills passed by Congress. We are driven by emotion, and the "squeaky"
