

SEP 20 REC'D

September 18, 1990

OCT 09 AM 9:10

3132-90

Dear Sirs:

On The evening of September 16 on the Discovery Channel I saw one of the best seminars I have seen in ages. I'm not sure how long it was, but at least an hour. It helped me understand the situation in the Middle East that President Bush and his cheerleaders have articulated so poorly.

It originated from the Carter Center in Atlanta with President Carter as the moderator. He asked in-depth questions of various politicians, military men and professionals. They discussed the history of the region, the present players, and future possibilities about the region in the future.

My question to you? Why did you not show this? It would not have offended the right wing and I'm sure many of your viewers would have enjoyed it and learned as much as I did. Did you not know, or just not care. It was like a breath of fresh air. I sometimes forget that there are intelligent people in this country.

A Caller on this morning's call-in show asked why Bush didn't use ex-presidents as advisors on the middle east problem. I Think you really blew this one.

San Antonio, TX 78250

Typing on a typewriter after using a computer is for the birds.

September 18, 1990

September 18, 1990

Dear Sirs:

On the evening of September 16 in the Discovery Channel I saw one of the best seminars I have seen in ages. I'm not sure how long it was, but at least an hour. It was a seminar on the Middle East situation in the Middle East that President Bush and his advisers have articulated so poorly.

It originated from the Carter Center in Atlanta with President Carter as the moderator. He asked in-depth questions of various politicians, military men and professionals. They discussed the history of the region, the present players, and future possibilities about the region in the future.

My question to you? Why did you not show this? It would not have offended the right wing and I'm sure many of your viewers would have enjoyed it and learned as much as I did. Did you not know, or just not care. It was like a breath of fresh air. I sometimes forget that there are intelligent people in this country.

A Clinton on this morning's call-in show asked why Bush didn't use ex-presidents as advisors on the middle east problem. I think you really blew this one.

Ada H. Manning
7319 Wells Walk Dr.
San Antonio, TX 78220

Working on a typewriter after using a computer for the night.