Gentlemen:

Book Notes has become a must for me. However, the questions on Strange Bedfellows this evening were a disappointment. I waited 45 minutes to get to how TV had changed politics, and got one brief question, and then another wait for one more final question on that subject. Why all the attention to professional relationships in ABC? The subtitle on the book must have been based on the content, and there was scarcely any reference to that content.

Hope it's better again next time.

Sincerely,
