

[REDACTED]
Wilmette, Illinois 60091
April 11, 1994

C-SPAN Viewer Services
Suite 650
400 North Capitol Street, NW
Washington, D.C. 20001

Gentlemen:

What must I do to get a call in to Brian Lamb's interview program?
What phone number, what time (Central)?

I think Mr. Lamb is the best interviewer, though I thought on the night-time April 11 he cut Paul Gigot of the Wall Street Journal short when I was eager to fully hear Mr. Gigo's responses. Mr. Gigot is well informed and sound in his thinking.

As to my ideas on candidates for the Presidency in the next election, see attached. letter.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

Encl.

[REDACTED]
Wilmette, Illinois 60091
April 5, 1994

Messrs. Wick Allison & Wm. Rusher
c/o NATIONAL REVIEW, Editorial Dept.
150 E. 35th Street
New York, N.Y. 10016

Gentlemen:

As to the 1966 Tout Sheet in your article LET THE RACE BEGIN, in the April 4, 1994 issue of NATIONAL REVIEW, how could you not have listed the most outstanding candidate for the Presidency,

Congressman Dick Armey ?

He is intelligent, knowledgeable, all-around well-informed, down-to-earth, decent, likeable, confidence-inspiring, has conviction and always holds his own. He has everything!

Of late, a number of my friends have come to the same conclusion, and Mona Charen, my favorite commentator, predicted on the CAPITAL GANG program that Congressman Dick Armey would be a big star in 1994.

Dr. William Bennett

would be my second choice, and

Dan Quayle would make an excellent Vice President. He was the first one to stress Traditional Family Values, which issue the Democrats now have usurped, and which fact Dan Quayle could drive home to good advantage in preparation for any political office.

Sincerely,
[REDACTED]

Copies to:

Congressman Dick Armey
Dr. William Bennett
Mr. Dan Quayle
Mr. John McLaughlin
NATIONAL REVIEW