Dear People at C-Span,

I love C-Span. I am in the process of getting C-Span² added to my cable abilities.

Have you ever tried a program where Sentors and Representatives talk about their jobs? Things like, how they do their job, what all is their job, and what they like and don't like, the pros and cons of their job, and the steps they go through to make up a legislation and what happens to make legislation become a bill. How the House and Senate work together and why there is always antagonism between Congress and the President (particularly this President) - things like that. I am thinking of a one on one format with a Senator and one of your guys asking questions along these lines making sure to allow the Senator or Representative time to express his/her thoughts and feelings and allowing him/her to express what he/she wants most to accomplish as a Senator or Representative. Maybe a half hour or 45 minute show for each Senator or Representative that appears on your show. It would not be a call in show just a chance for Americans to know their Senators and Representatives better, to let us know our Senators and Representatives as people rather than as Democrat or Republican first. I don't know how many Senators or Representatives would want to do a program like this but I do think the public would really appreciate a show like this.

I hope you at least think about it.

Sincerely,
