

DEAR C Span ,

I just finished the live broadcast of J. Roundtable on 10/22/93 at 8 a.m.

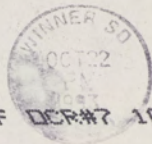

The only thing wrong with Clinton on Somalia is that the plan was to have a QRF, Quick Reaction force, and then withdraw altogether. That was brought out on another program on TV. They also said the QRF was taking care of the daily business of fighting the warlords and the warlords rallied the people after their immediate needs of food were met and forced the violence against the U.S. ^{to make} The warlords got one last jab in the fight before we were able to withdraw totally.

Clinton has done very well with damage control since then, because I think that if Aspin or Clinton would have not been doing "their" goal of the what the country wants and we pay them to get things done, then the country would be having TV's with the ballot cards in their pockets.

Sincerely,
