

Clinton, NY 13323

RFUL

11/6/98

Dear Brian,

Crispin Sartwell is a breath of fresh air! I'm not a Libertarian (am a liberal Democrat, League of Women Voters type), but agree strongly with Sartwell's concern about "the cultural and religious rights" pre-emption of morality.

Why not feature a debate between Sartwell and the executive director of the Christian Coalition (or Ralph Reed, who comes across as "authentic," unlike Jerry Falwell).
for ex.

I think "morality" is a larger concept than one's sexual life: do you care about others' well-being?

Anyway, thanks for moving away from the canned, contentious sound-bite "debate" between ideologues. I'd stopped watching it. Sincerely,

70
FROM THE DESK OF

ONE OF THE MOST POWERFUL AND INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE
IN THE WORLD

O. J.

11/6/98

Dear Brian,

Crispin Sartwell is a breath of fresh air! I'm not a Libertarian (am a liberal Democrat, League of Women Voters type), but agree strongly with Sartwell's concern about "the cultural and religious rights" pre-emption of morality.

Why not feature a debate between Sartwell and the executive director of the Christian Coalition (or Ralph Reed, who comes across as "authentic," unlike Jerry Falwell <sup>for ex.</sup>).

I think "morality" is a larger concept than one's sexual life: do you care about others' well-being?

Anyway, thanks for moving away from the canned, contentious sound-bite "debate" between ideologues. I'd stopped watching it. Sincerely