C-SPAN CABLECASTS OXFORD SPECIAL
"RHODES SCHOLARS: THE OXFORD-AMERICAN CONNECTION"

Washington, D.C., January 8, 1993 -- Tomorrow, January 9, from 1:00 PM - 7:00 PM (ET) and Sunday, January 10, 8:00 AM - 1:00 PM (ET), C-SPAN will air, "Rhodes Scholars: The Oxford-American Connection."

The 11-hour special, will look at how Oxford University's Rhodes Scholarship program was founded, President-elect Clinton's years as a Rhodes Scholar and other prominent Americans whose careers were shaped at Oxford. Only 32 American students are allowed to study at Oxford each year, although 1200 applied in 1992.

Interviews with the following people will be included in this program: Strobe Talbott, Editor-at-large, TIME magazine and former Clinton roommate; George Cawkwell, retired Dean of Graduate Students at University College; George Stephanopolous, Communications Director, Clinton Transition Team, and Robert Reich, Secretary of Labor designate. Other Clinton associates and Rhodes Scholars featured are, Zbigniew Pelczynski, College Professor; Sen. Richard Lugar (R-IN); George Will, Syndicated Columnist; E.J. Dionne, Washington Post Writer; James Billington, Librarian of Congress and his daughter Susan Billington-Harper, also a Rhodes Scholar.

The "Rhodes Scholars: The Oxford-American Connection" special is part of C-SPAN's "New Faces of Washington" programming for the month of January.

"New Faces of Washington" is C-SPAN's continuing coverage of the presidential transition and the 103rd Congress, including "Road To The White House," live Viewer Call-Ins and special programming every Sunday throughout January.

C-SPAN is available in 58.3 million households nationwide and worldwide via satellite. This year C-SPAN won the 8th Annual Golden Ace Award, the industry's highest annual honor, for its comprehensive coverage of the presidential election. C-SPAN is privately funded to serve the public by America's cable television companies.
