Att: Program Producer

I am an ardent C-SPAN viewer and I enjoy watching all the programs and special events. I am not a crank, nor one of the unpleasant characters who often call in to vent their prejudices, etc. However, I felt compelled this A.M. to write about your lengthy session with the Hitchen brothers. I most heartily object to their British pomposity and opinionated blubbery regarding our country, our President and their views on things which really are none of their business.

Chris Hitchens looked as if he had just come home from a bender, & ^{Mr} J^r Hitchens is a typical "pompos ass".

I would like to suggest that when you present 2 such planted foreign gentleman, you counter their British "marbles in the mouth" opinions with 2 American journalists of different viewpoints to balance the program.

I am an Independent voter neither Rep/Dem. I do resent these people taking pot shots at the President at this time. American sense of fair-play - not kicking a man when he is down - is gone forever, it seems thanks to the Talking Heads, who make a career out of hitting any sitting president. If they are all so brilliant, always knowing what the President should/should not do, why don't they run for President?

I wonder how many journalists could stand up to the scrutiny of their private lives etc? Are they all true-blue veterans with spotless lives and no infidelities? I doubt it very much!

Yours truly,
