Listening to current "call-ins" re: the House bank inquiry, I am struck by a lack of questions about the "subpoena" as a purely political ploy to find out where Congresspersons are "sending their checks". It's a perfect method for (a) attacking Democrats and (b) embarrassing Republicans who are not strictly in line with "party discipline".

wouldn't it be ludicrous if we end up with a "split Congress" and a "Independent" as President?
