

Dear Brian Lamb,

There is one rotten apple in every barrel and this is me.

I look forward to all your programs especially the "call-ins" and "Journalist Round Table" on Friday mornings is the best. Today, January 28th, you had your new setting. Where is the table everyone sat around and looked relaxed and comfortable with their notepads and coffee? Today everyone looked like sticks on those most uncomfortable looking chairs. Everyone was squirming a little bit. It must have been a very, very long hour and a half.

I watched it, again, on Saturday evening to make sure I was right in my feelings - get back the Table and make it a real Journalist Roundtable.

The Capital view wasn't very pretty because of the weather but it isn't a pretty thought anyway. When I see it, I think of all those people in there spending our tax dollars foolishly and not representing the people but saving the President.

The rotten apple -

Edgemont, Arkansas

72044

P.S. The next time the C-Span School Bus comes to Arkansas bring it to Westside School, Greens Ferry, Arkansas - no locks on the lockers.

Mr. Brian Lamb - C. Span
40 N. Capital #450
Washington, D.C.
20001

[REDACTED]
Edgmont, Arkansas
72044

