Dear C-Span -

Congratulations and thanks for your special coverage and in-depth look at National Public Radio. I was able to see most of it and as a long time devotee to both the morning and evening news shows was very interested to learn how they are put together. And of course it was wonderful to see the faces behind the voices that are so familiar. The quality and professionalism of the staff re-inforced my attitude about the importance to our society of their judgments and performance. Thank you very much!

In my enthusiasm for NPR, I failed to recognize the equally impressive value of C-Span and its coverage of many matters that otherwise would receive little notice. I put you right in there with NPR - and thanks to you again!!
