Like your network. I've got a suggestion and a question -

(1) When the House finishes voting, you should flash "FINAL COUNT" and keep the tally up on the screen for at least 30 seconds. Since the House extends the count after "00:00" time remains, the tally keeps changing right up until the numbers disappear from the screen. A viewer needs to be clairvoyant to write down the final count.

(2) I was fascinated by the debate over Nebraska's Niobrara River. If I were to ~~subscribe~~ to your program guide, would I know in advance when the House will have an environmental debate? Or don't they give you enough advance notice for that?
