Dear Program Director(s) at CSPAN,

If you would, could you please answer a couple of questions I have concerning your programming the morning of MONDAY, JAN. 10, 2000.

I was very much enjoying your segment with Richard Brookhiser from National Review. I wish you would have more guests that are upfront, clear and honest, such as Richard. When it comes to calling "a spade a spade" and the corruption in the White House due to this administration, your show is the ONLY ONE IN TOWN + TV that truly gives us the real truth through such guests.

I was looking forward to your repeat segment, and this is where my question comes here. in.

When you cut away from your repeat segment with Richard to carry the "live"
UN AIDS + WORLD HEALTH CRISIS, why, when they took a break, ~~and~~ you went back to Brian + his show, did you not go back to Richard?
Instead you cut that part, and I had to listen to the pretty much non-committal MARK Shields?

I have a very curious mind and I don't trust the wacko leftys at all.
Did that or them have anything to do with ~~not~~ your decision.

I know in the past whoever the big-shots are have dubbed out or dubbed in various speakers on the other side. Or as I describe, the "right" side. ☺

I even have some of that pre-~~empty~~ emptying on tape. ➡

If you have time, could you reply? Thanks + keep up the your good works at CSPAN. Sincerely [redacted]

PS. Tell Brian hello! ☺
