

December 10, 1993

Mr. Brian Lamb
C-SPAN
400 North Capital Street NW
#650
Washington, D.C. 20001

Dear Mr. Lamb:

After watching your programming, once so unbiased, move relentlessly left I can no longer avoid writing to complain. Although since you apparently have stereotypical views of the South...I not only read Rolling Stone, The Nation, and New Republic but also the National Review and Reason etc.....perhaps if I add my voice to those from certainly more stylish parts of the country the cumulative effect will cause you to take pause to look at your recent morning programming. I do hope you are of good will but must admit that I have connected in time the change to your interview of Clinton. People with a sense of entitlement have a way of charming any of us.

I long ago abandoned the network news programs because of bias and frankly lack of content. When I finally became able to have cable I experienced new hope for this nation I love when I discovered your morning programming and it has been important to me for the past two years. However in the past two Journalists' Roundtable you have managed only "Son of Gergen" Williams as a voice somewhat alternative to the five leftist Clinton apologists.

I guess I should be grateful for your two token conservatives out of all the 8:00-10:00am time slots the week between the Fridays. You had Dick Armeey for little over 30 minutes prior to hours of Clinton HSA propaganda and Wm. Bennett for 30 minutes before 30 minutes of that great expert on social issues Norman Lear one on one to be followed by another hour or more of his garbage.

Don't bother to send me one of those "glad you are interested" form letters. I just want to try to remind you how dependent we out here are on the few media outlets for alternative political and philosophical views. I ask only for the information. I have complete confidence in the judgment of free Americans to make the best choices but only if they can know the truth.

Sincerely,

A large black rectangular redaction box covering the signature of the sender.

Dunwoody, Georgia 30338

ATLANTA, GEORGIA 30338

ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED

Mr. Brian Lamb
C-SPAN
400 North Capitol Street NW
#650
Washington, D.C. 20001