

Medford, NJ 08055
5/10/96.

Brian Lamb
400 N. Capitol ST NW.
Washington, DC 20001

Sorry Brian - I can no longer tolerate your Washington Journal format.

- (1) Your insistence on local or national news articles has left me uninspired.
- (2) Your repeating the same reporters too often.
- (3) Your schoolbus has become so huge plus it is a vehicle (per intended) for advertisements for the Cable Networks.

(a) Silly Washington Journal mag. When do the totes and umbrellas follow?

(b) The contest for young high school students to gain scholarships. I

S-W)

[REDACTED]

noticed, and think you should. How many are art orientated and not toward the discipline of the written word.

As a former high school and elementary ^{school} librarian, I recognized the heavy weight that was given the arts as compared to the academic. It became a school joke when we had (17) art valdictorians and maybe (1) academic valdictorian. It soon became an outrage and grades weighted.

Just saw the fax about
day in and day outism.

Guess what? You've become boring!

Sincerely [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]