THE OILGATE TRIO

An Open Letter To Jimmy Carter

NOVEMBER

President Jimmy Carter
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President,

When you lead your Sunday School classes, do you preach Human Rights? Do you pray for justice, peace and love? Do you ask God for strength and understanding? You surely do — if you follow Judao-Christian teachings!

How can you then, as The President of The United States, the leader of our country, violate these principles and teachings the other six days of the week?

Your behavior toward the tiny state of Israel gives the lie to your pretensions. If you really believed in these principles, and the Human Rights you love to lecture others about, you would not threaten the existence of the only country in the Middle East that practices Human Rights.

Peace is not to be had by our nation becoming an instrument, if not an accomplice, of the Arab oil states and their attempt to blackmail the Western World.

You debase our nation, sir, and make a mockery of our history when you compare the so-called Palestine Liberation Organization with the Civil Rights movement in America. Dealing with murderers of innocent children cannot be countenanced under any conditions.

There are perhaps as many as 5,000 members of the PLO. Does this make a nation? Without their tactics of threat, bribery, and violence where would they be? Who do they really represent? Do you think the PLO can reduce the price of oil? Will the PLO get freedom for the black slaves in the Arab countries?

Why is it, sir, that you ignore the Human Rights issue when you talk of the PLO and the OPEC countries? What about Human Rights in Saudi Arabia, The Sudan, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Jordan, Egypt, Syria and Libya? How much independence, self-determination, and human rights would there be in a so-called independent PLO state of one million, an enclave buried in a sea of anti-democratic, anti-Human Rights Arab countries and headed by Russian backed men like Yasser Arafat?

How many Arabs living in Israel would exchange their life with any Arab living in any Arab country?

Mr. Carter, you often quote from the Bible. Have you ever read any of the Koran, the Bible and Constitution of most of the Arab States? Please recall that people did not take seriously what Hitler wrote in Mein Kampf.

From the Koran: "Believers, take neither Jews nor Christians for your friends. They are friends with one another. Whoever of you seeks their friendship shall become one of their number." Allah forbids you to make friends with those who have fought against you. "Kill them wherever you find them. Drive them out of the places from which they drove you. Idolatry is worse than carnage. Fight them until idolatry is no more and Allah's religion reigns supreme."

Has any Arab leader given you any assurance that these are not his avowed aims? Has any United Nations resolution been proposed for any nation to do anything for anyone... except Israel to reduce its security... in return for one half of a Peace Prize!

How can you support the most inhuman dictatorships, and talk of Human Rights at the same time. Is it in this country's interest for you to have your arm around Pinochet of Chile; to have supported the Somoza regime in Nicaragua and the Shah of Iran until almost the end to name just two recent examples? Is it not manifest that our policies are leading this great nation to destruction?

As for democracy, freedom, and Human Rights, Israel stands alone in the Middle East. The real long term interests of this country and history demand that she survive; that she receive our wholehearted backing and support.

You must know, Mr. President, that your attitude toward Israel and the Jewish people sets an example and influences people in the United States and elsewhere in the world. As a student of history you know the techniques of exploiting the Jews, using them as a scapegoat for a people's failures and frustrations. When evil and terror strike an ailing world, the poisonous cry, "The Jews are to blame," reverberates through the air.

But, how quickly people forget! Like the Black leaders in America who forgot that the Jews were the first to march with them in the South; at Selma, Alabama, and wherever else they had causes and goals to fight for and injustices to overcome.

Israel is a Nation of 8,000 square miles with 3½ million Jews, in a sea of 21 Arab nations of a million square miles of territory and 100 million people. A few of these Arab nations own the largest part of the world's wealth.

According to you, many of your staff and much of the media, ISRAEL IS THE SOURCE AND RESPONSIBILITY OF ALL THE PROBLEMS THAT BESET YOU!

Truth, fact, information are your responsibility and that of our free press. You can be sure, if Americans get the truth and facts, they will follow you to an intelligent solution and public participation whatever you may ask them to do. The reporting on Israel and the Middle East and the use of the power of this wealth has been at best mediocre!

The oil blockade of 1973 was an act of war under the UN Charter and International Law, and has been interpreted as such by every administration, including yours. If in 1973, when we imported barely 500,000 barrels of oil a day from the Middle East, when ships filled with oil sailed the high seas with no place to land, had an American President said "KEEP YOUR OIL," and asked the American people to support him, how long would that blackmail have lasted? Yet, today you are condoning a conspiracy of bribery, corruption, greed, anti-semitism and treason.

What, sir, are the real interests of the United States? Your re-election at any cost? The avoidance of any discomfort or hardship to the American people, so that they can drift on in their collective ignorance until it is too late?

Why don't you tell the people of our country that every sixty cent (cost) per barrel of oil for which we are paying an extortionate twenty dollars, (and more) is the direct cause of our inflation, depression and leading to the reverse colonialism of the western world to the people who are blackmailing us. Why don't you tell Americans how much Israel has done to save American lives from a complete Russian take-over in the Middle East... The intelligence Israel has furnished America about Russian weaponry... The solid base America can count on against the Russian menace in that part of the world. Do you hesitate to commend Israel for what it does and what it stands for because your anti-Israel demands are hypocritical? The Russians are laughing like hell as their surrogates Kuwait and Cuba decide what shall be voted on in the United Nations!

All this is happening because our American leaders will not tell the truth... tell it like it really is.

Who are the American Public Officials, heads of oil companies, and Arab leaders who conspired to commit this treason against the United States, and why have they not been brought to trial? They were all back and forth to the White House and the Middle East in 1972 and 1973 when this act of war against the United States was being planned. Are you afraid to act against them for price fixing, and if this is technically impossible, are you also afraid to try them for treason... which is still going on?

For a long time now, it has been obvious that there is one set of rules for Israel and another set for the other countries in the Middle East. Every demand on Israel to appease the Arab countries is virtually a signal to the USSR that this nation is willing to sacrifice that tiny land of freedom on the altar of oil and political expediency. A strong Israel is all that stands in the way of a complete disappearance of democracy, freedom, and Human Rights in the Middle East, and the hegemony of Russia over the entire Middle East and Africa. In that event how much Middle East oil will get you at what price? In this age of the atom and the seeming heading rush to Armageddon, the destiny of the Jews and Israel is coming to fruition. From the hills of Jerusalem can come words that can have meaning for the entire world.

Is Israel stubborn, intransigent, counter-productive if it tries to prevent you from destroying yourself?

(When THE LETTER TO THE WORLD FROM JERUSALEM was published in the first issue of The Times of Israel in 1975, it was reprinted in the millions in publications throughout the world. It is as timely today as it was then. Maybe you missed it, Mr. President. Read it carefully. Act accordingly.)

Letter To The World From Jerusalem

I am not a creature from another planet, as you seem to believe. I am a Jerusalemite, like yourselves, a man of flesh and blood. I am a citizen of my city, an integral part of my people.

I have a few things to get off my chest. Because I am not a diplomat, I do not have to mince words. I do not have to please you or even persuade you. I owe you nothing. You did not build this city, you do not live in it; you did not defend it when they came to destroy it. And we will be damned if we will let you take it away.

There was a Jerusalem before there was a New York. When Berlin, Moscow, London and Paris were miasmal forests and swamps, there was a thriving Jewish community here. It gave something to the world which you nations have rejected ever since you established yourselves — a humane moral code.

Here prophets walked, their words flashing like forked lightning. Here a people who wanted nothing more than to be left alone, fought off waves of heathen would-be conquerors, bled and died on the battlefields, hurled themselves into the flames of their burning Temple rather than surrender; and when finally overwhelmed by sheer numbers and led away into captivity, swore that before they forgot Jerusalem, they would see their tongues cleave to their palates, their right arms wither.

For two pain-filled millennia, while we were your unwelcome guests, we prayed daily to return to this city. Three times a day we petitioned the Almighty: "Gather us from the four corners of the world, bring us upright to our land; return in mercy to Jerusalem, Thy city, and dwell in it as Thou promised."

On every Yom Kippur and Passover we fervently voiced the hope that next year would find us in Jerusalem. Your inquiries, pogroms, expulsions, the ghettos into which you jammed us, your forced baptisms, your quota systems, your genteel anti-Semitism, and the final unspeakable horror, the holocaust (and worse, your terrifying disinterest in it) — all these have not broken us. They may have sapped what little moral strength you still possessed, but they forged us into steel. Do you think that you can break us now, after all we have been through? Do you really believe that after Dachau and Auschwitz we are frightened by your threats of blockades and sanctions? We have been to Hell and back — a Hell of your making. What more could you possibly have in your arsenal that could scare us?

I have watched the city bombarded twice by nations calling themselves civilized. In 1948, while you looked on apathetically, I saw women and children blown to smithereens, this after we had agreed to your request to internationalize the city. It was a deadly combination that did the job: British officers, Arab gunners and American-made cannon.

And then the savage sacking of the Old City: the willful slaughter, the wanton destruction of every synagogue and religious school; the desecration of Jewish cemeteries; the sale by a ghoulish government of tombstones for building materials, for poultry runs, army camps — even latrines.

And you never said a word.

You never breathed the slightest protest when the Jordanians shut off the holiest of our holy places, the Western Wall, in violation of the pledges they had made after the war — a war they waged, incidentally, against a decision of the UN. Not a murmur came from you whenever the legionnaires in their spiked helmets casually opened fire upon our citizens from behind the walls.

Your hearts bled when Berlin came under siege. You rushed your airlift "to save the gallant Berliners." But you did not send one ounce of food when Jews starved in besieged Jerusalem. You thundered against the wall which the East Germans ran through the middle of the German capital, but not one peep out of you about the other wall, the one that tore through the heart of Jerusalem.

And when the same thing happened 20 years later, and the Arabs unleashed a savage unprovoked bombardment of the Holy City again, did any of you do anything? The only time you came to life was when the city was at last re-united. Then you wrung your hands and spoke loftily of "justice" and the need for the "Christian" quality of turning the other cheek.

The truth is — and you know it deep inside your gut — you would prefer the city to be destroyed rather than have it governed by Jews. No matter how diplomatically you phrase it, the age-old prejudices seep out of every word.

If our return to the city has tied your theology in knots, perhaps you had better re-examine your catechisms. After what we have been through, we are not passively going to accommodate ourselves to the twisted idea that we are to suffer eternal homelessness until we accept your Saviour.

For the first time since the year 70 there is now complete religious freedom for all in Jerusalem. For the first time since the Romans put the torch to the Temple there are equal rights. (You preferred to have some more equal than others.) We loathe the sword — but it was you, forced us to take it up. We crave peace — but we are not going back to the peace of 1948 as you would like us to.

We are home. It has a lovely sound for a nation you have willed to wander over the face of the globe. We are not leaving. We have redeemed the pledge made by our forefathers: Jerusalem is being rebuilt. "Next year" — and the year after, and after, and after, until the end of time — "in Jerusalem!"

OPEN LETTER...TRUTH WILL SET US FREE !

President George Bush
The White House
Washington, DC.

The list of matters U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia are told to avoid is shown herein. As one who swore to uphold the American constitution and Bill of Rights I am as shocked as I was when Iran placed a death threat on the writer Rushdie and readers of that book, and you did not respond to the threat to what an American might read.

Secretary Baker emphasizes this attitude, by visiting the Arab countries all around Israel...a place he has never visited.

Perhaps a psychologist could understand why the Christians would rather commit suicide than admit that except for Israel, there would not be a Christian alive in the Middle East.

BUT, you Mr. President as leader of this great country, have no right to place the United States of America in the category of NATIONS WHO HAVE JOINED HISTORIES CHORUS OF JEW HATERS!

We need not go back to the crusaders to see results to nations of Jew hatred. Modern times of this century are sufficient examples: Germany, the great British Empire, Russia, have forced the world to pay dearly for their Jew hatred.

Now, Mr. President, the United States of America at this moment of peril, joins the chorus of Jew haters in the UN. resolutions and cover-up of the obvious help already demonstrated that Israel has and could mean to your success of "desert shield."

As the leader of America, the last remaining bulwark against despots and the enemies of Christian-Jewish heritage, you must immediately reverse this demeaning of your honorable goals and tell your allies the truth. If they want you to protect them NOW is the moment of opportunity to show the courage of Sadat and propose discussions, solutions, but WITHOUT JEW HATRED AS THEIR RALLYING CRY and insistence that you be part of this charade, if you are to SAVE THEIR LIVES!

Placing hundreds of thousands of American lives to protect oil at $35 a barrel is no answer...and without question your intentions go beyond that. But, it is also worth considering that there are no jobs for workers at $35 a barrel oil, making product cost completely out of the world market. In fact the American people would follow you with gas rationing, or anything else you would suggest to return that oil price to realistic prices...what would they do with it if we didn't buy it..drink it? To let Islam make thousands of American boys and girls bow to insults about your best friend and ally Israel makes a mockery of all you intend.

Best wishes to you and your family for the coming years. Please tell the Pentagon, your cabinet and UN friends, NO MORE Trashing of Israel...CHRISTIANS TOO ARE NAMED INFIDELS, as if the Jews were their only enemies. :

Very truly yours,

Censorship

The following is a list of sensitive subjects published in "Customs and Culture," a chapter in the troop-information pamphlet distributed to all U.S. armed forces in Saudi Arabia. Soldiers are told to avoid or handle carefully these topics:

- Pictures of the crucifix, Star of David, etc.
- Articles and stories showing U.S.-Israeli ties and friendship.
- Films or newsclips featuring pro-Zionist actors and actresses (e.g., Barbara Streisand, Liz Taylor).
- Discussing U.S. involvement in supporting Israel and Israel's current presence in Lebanon; U.S. strategic cooperation with Israel.
- Discussing the "Jewish lobby" and U.S. intelligence given to Israel.
- Discussing the host country's reservations about the peaceful intentions of other Arab states.
- Criticizing Islamic religious customs, women's rights, enforced dress and moral standards, and media coverage and censorship.
- Referring to the Arab blacklisting of U.S. companies that do business with Israel or the Arab boycotting of companies that have strong Zionist representation in executive positions (Harper's, Nov., New York Times, Oct. 27).

The House Judiciary Committee, now looking into the matter of overseas contributions to President Nixon's 1972 Presidential campaign may have a potential bombshell on its hands in the excerpt below from the November 3rd, 1972 column of former Al-Ahram Editor Muhammad Hasanayn Heykal. Heykal, confidant of Gamal Abdel Nasser during the 17 years the Egyptian strong-man ruled Cairo, was probably the most influential journalist in Middle Eastern history until he fell out with Nasser's successor, Anwar el Sadat, and was bounced from his job.

While truth in journalism has never been the Arabs' strongest suit, Heykal's allegations, despite his known hostility to Richard Nixon, leave the field open for speculation and raise some interesting questions about the Arab concept of how to win friends and influence American elections. Here is what he had to say with editorial emphasis added.

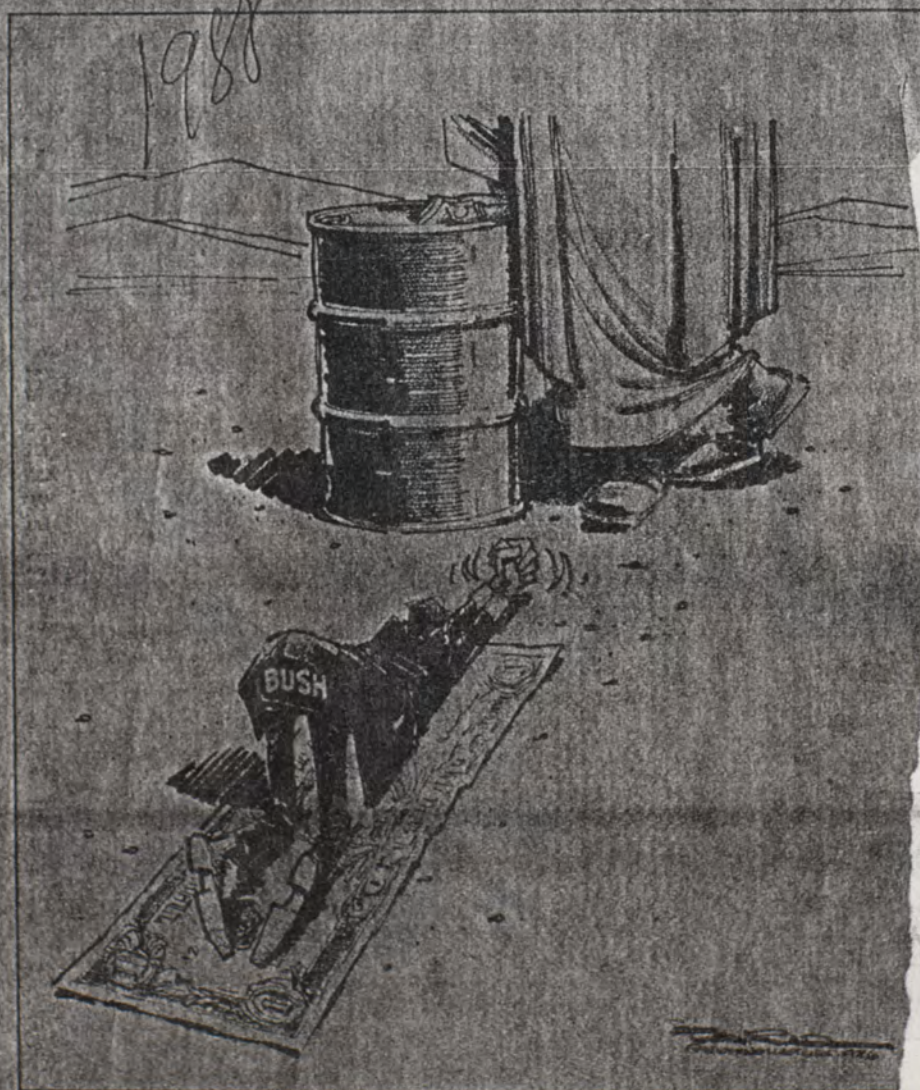

... "I say for the first time that we Arabs have been more enthusiastic than all contributors about the campaign to elect Richard Nixon.

"Being sure about my sources, I may say that some Arab quarters have contributed, through masked faces, to the fund of the campaign to elect Nixon.

"I may add, and I am very careful about what I am saying, that about 10 to 12 million dollars from Arab sources went to the fund of the campaign to elect Nixon. For some Arab sheikhs, with complete naivete, imagined that by following this course they could influence American policy. They forgot, however, that influencing is not simply a matter of several millions added to the election campaign fund. It is rather a 'whole process' or an 'integral art' which requires several components. Gold may be one of them, but it is not the most important factor without a true mastery of the 'process' or 'art' of influencing."

WHAT IS ISLAM?

By

Prof./Pastor [REDACTED]

A Historical Look at the bellers and origins of Islam.

Published by the Christian Mid-East Conference [REDACTED]

Poway, California 92064

INTRODUCTION

Islam is a socio-political religion which rules in the 5 million square miles belonging to the Arabic-speaking peoples. Further, it rules in parts of Asia and Africa, altogether claiming nearly a billion adherents. In many regions of the world, including some parts of the West, Islam is also the fastest growing religion. But in the United States, as well as the Christian world, there is little general knowledge about its origins, beliefs, and methods.

BEFORE ISLAM

Islam was born in the Arabian Peninsula, an area which has changed little since the seventh century. At that time, its primary inhabitants were nomadic Bedouin tribes, who were well adapted to the harsh environment of the desert.

These Bedouins had adopted beliefs and superstitions from a number of ancient religions. For example, they believed in a sun-goddess, Alla (or Allat), the goddess of bad luck, and in Manat and Wadd, the gods of fertility. The similarity in sound between the Biblical Hebrew name of God, "El" or "Elohim," and the Islamic "Allah" may not be more than an entirely coincidental semblance of tone.

The tribal worship was clearly pagan and incorporated idols, amulets, charms, and spirits. In addition, these primitive tribes shared the ancient animistic practices of worshipping stones, trees, and water.

BEFORE MUHAMMAD

Even before Islam was formed by Muhammad, the Arabian tribes had a custom of traveling to Mecca and worshipping a strange cube of black rock called the "Ka'abba," which some scholars believe to be a meteorite.

Later, when Judean folklore began to take hold among the nomads, some old-wives stories began circulating among the primitive Arab tribes. They were told that this rock "had been raised by Adam, destroyed by the flood, and rebuilt by Abraham with the help of his son Ishmael, the father of all Arabs." These fables were incorporated into Islam.

Today this stone may be found in the corner of the central mosque in Mecca. According to another Koranic legend, it fell from paradise and the angel Gabriel (Djebrail) brought it to the Patriarch Abraham during the reconstruction of the Temple. The god of this stone in the old pagan Ka'abba religion was called Allah. A spirit of that same name spoke to the founder of Islam in visions, and he adopted the name for his god.

MUHAMMAD, FOUNDER OF ISLAM

There is little information about Muhammad (pronounced "Moo-cha-mmaad"), the founder of Islam, except for legendary tales. Some legends are ancient, adopted by the early Moslems; others were composed by the writers of the Koran, the sacred book of Islam.

It is believed that Muhammad was born in Mecca in 570 AD, the son of a nomad tribesman who apparently died before his son's birth.

The tribe to whom he belonged lived on pilferage -- mostly robbing other tribes and passing caravans -- and on the slave trading. The later occupation provided the basis for Muhammad's father's description as a "merchant." It also explains the importance which Islam accords to the preservation of the institution of slavery in Moslem-dominated countries.

Muhammad's mother died a few years after his birth, and he was raised by an uncle named Abu-Talib. There he grew very close to his cousin, Ali, who became his partner and strongest supporter. Muhammad had one son and one daughter, Fatima, who married Ali. These four were in fact the founders of Islam.

VISIONS AND VOICES

In the year 610 AD, when he turned 40 years of age, Muhammad was celebrating Rammadaan, a month-long pagan holiday which he incorporated into Islam. On the 26th day of the celebration he began to see visions and hear voices telling him to carry the message of his tribal god Allah, who claimed to be the one and only god. Muhammad took up the challenge and in 613 AD he began to preach.

EARLY CONQUESTS

His early efforts, however, met with little success. The nomadic Bedouins, it seemed, cared more for profits than prophets, and perceived this new religion as a threat to their business. The ruling classes and the local Jews were also opposed to him. Muhammad then showed his shrewdness by turning to the masses. Like Communism and Socialism, the Islamic appeal was in the promise of a better future. The concept of Islamic paradise, full of sensual pleasures, to be attained by Moslem warriors, was then incorporated as a fundamental teaching of the new religion.

After the death of both Muhammad's wife and uncle, he and his family fled from Mecca to Medina. There Muhammad developed an even more militant theology, which has characterized Islam ever since. He formed Islam's first hit-squad, which he called "The Mystic Fighters." By guaranteeing eternal life and paradise to all who die in the name of Islam, he whipped his Bedouins to a frenzy. Their bloody, warlike excursions, which were actually nothing more than the same marauding raids they had been accustomed to for centuries, now had a religious pretext and a divine sanction. They experienced quick success. In 624 AD they crushed all opposition in the city of Badr and promptly expelled all Christians and Jews who lived there.

The following year, Muhammad invaded and conquered Mecca. The superstitious natives believed that such a victory was divinely inspired, and duly gave him their allegiance. There Muhammad denounced the plurality of gods, and proclaimed the sole deity of Allah. All human beings, he said, must be (in literal translation) the "slaves of Allah," which is also the meaning of the term "Islam." A "Moslem" is "one who submits." Further, the Islamic term for "peace" ("salaam") also means "to submit." Muhammad's view of whom they whipped at will and kept in confinement. When the woman tried to escape they threatened to take her to Kuwait and have her hanged. While this seems shocking to people of Christian and Western sensibilities, these two Moslem aristocrats were simply acting in accord with their religious beliefs and historical traditions.

Christians and Jews Heavily Taxed

When not in abject servitude, Moslems forced Christians and Jews to pay oppressive taxes and fees. One of these, the kharaj was similar to the "protection money" that mobsters demand of those they want to terrify. It was the "offer they could not refuse." Should the fee be lacking, the victim would be exposed to vicious attacks. The kharaj was another badge of servitude.

The jizya was another tax which Christians and Jews were forced to pay at a humiliating public ceremony at which they were struck on the head or the neck. In addition, they had to wear the receipt around the neck or wrist; without it they could be jailed at will.

The Unequal Yoke

Christians and Jews were not allowed to give evidence against a Moslem or give orders to them in work. In fact, Islamic courts refused to accept evidence from Christians and Jews on the grounds that they were "of a perverse and mendacious character," because they supposedly "denied the superiority of Islam." Punishments for non-Moslems were always more stringent.

Christians and Jews were in some cases forced to wear different clothing or to maintain their homes and business in a way that would be immediately recognized. This does not differ in substance from the Nazi practice of forcing Jews to wear a Star of David. In Arab lands, Jews and Christians were banished from entire towns and regions and in some cases could not go out at night. They were also forbidden to carry arms or protect themselves.

For a Christian or Jew to marry a Moslem was considered punishable by death, but a Moslem could marry whom he pleased. The "Dhimmi" peoples were not allowed to ride horses or camels, and in some cases even donkeys. Further, they had to dismount and abase themselves before passing Moslems.

Christians and Jews were not permitted to group together and talk in the street and had to walk with their eyes lowered when they passed Moslems. They could speak to Moslems only when authorized to do so, and were told to lower their voices. In their shops, they were sometimes forced to crouch so that Moslem clients would see only their heads and not their bodies. Their houses and business were fair game for pillage, and so were their holy places.

Religious Persecution

While Christian and Jewish communities in some cases were allowed to remain, they were subject to constant attack. Churches and synagogues were ransacked, burned, or entirely demolished. Indeed, sources from Saudi Arabia report that the last underground Christian church was recently destroyed by the Saudi police. On the other hand, as Ye'or notes, "If Jews or Christians entered a mosque in North Africa, it was regarded as a capital offense" because "their inferior nature was said to defile Muslim places of worship." In 1868, a Jew passing by a mosque was killed for having "intended to enter it."

Christians and Jews have never been allowed to worship freely in Islamic lands. The ringing of bells, crosses, icons, banners, and all other religious objects were prohibited. Christian and Jewish cemeteries were considered to be already "in the realm of hell."

Forced Conversion

Many Christians and Jews converted to Islam to save their very lives. For example, the caliph Walid burned to death the Christian nobles of Armenia and crucified or decapitated others. He took the wives and children as slaves. Such campaigns were common wherever Islam seized power, for a very good reason.

"From the beginning of the conquest," Ye'or writes, "the Arabs were imbued with the idea that they belong to the superior race of the Prophet; they set themselves above the other peoples . . ." Little wonder that some Christian and Jewish communities literally vanished from the face of the earth, completely annihilated by this "superior race."

Then and Now

It should be noted that the brief sampling above is not hearsay or speculation. Bat Ye'or has firmly documented all her findings and her scholarship is beyond reproach. She adds that many of the practices, being inherent to Islam, indeed, continue into modern times. And herein lies the importance of her powerful and illuminating study.

From the beginning until now, there exists not a single case of an Islamic regime according equal treatment to Christians and Jews. It follows that there will be none in the future.

In past centuries Islamic regimes were very successful in pursuit of their violent conquests.

Today, militant Islam is again spreading both through violence, as well as through deceptive diplomacy which seems to easily fool the West.

Indeed, when considering Islamic intolerance, history is more than a record of events which took place in the past. History may very well be a prophetic guide to what may happen in the future.

world peace was a world totally dominated and submissive to the rule of Islam. Today, Islamic radicals still believe in world conquest -- ruled by Islamic dictatorships governed by the sharia, Islam's barbaric Canon law.

MUHAMMAD AND CHRISTIANITY

Muhammad believed that Islam was to supplant all previous religions, including pagan persuasions, Judaism and Christianity. During Muhammad's campaigns, Christianity was weak in that part of the world. In an effort to convert Christians to his new faith, Muhammad declared Jesus to be also a (minor) prophet of Allah. It is quite probable that Muhammad himself was illiterate. His understanding of the Bible was, therefore, very shallow. He was told the Biblical stories and sagas, and was impressed by them. Thus, he adopted the names of Moses, David and others. All of the Biblical humanitarian concepts of morality and justice, however, completely escaped his interest.

The very idea of salvation, of the Messiah and of the eternal love of Christ, were foreign and strange to the desert marauder. So, according to Muhammad, Jesus was a servant (in Arabic "abd", literally "slave") of the Moslem Allah, and most definitely could not possibly be the Son of God. Since it did not conform to his ideas, Muhammad further declared the Bible to be in error, and -- among other "correction" -- taught that the true heir of God's promises was Ishmael, not Isaac.

As for the pagan customs of his people, he incorporated many of them into his religion. Indeed, the concepts of honorable bloodshedding, shame and the sacred vendetta, or blood-feud, were made holy. Muhammad -- the offspring of a violent, savage heritage -- could not understand the vital importance of the concept of peace and co-existence that underlines both Christianity and Judaism.

True to his legacy he conceived a religion of warfare and struggle, in which war was holy (Jihad) and tolerance baneful, and in which the very meaning of the word "peace" came to mean not co-operation and the acceptance of others, but precisely the opposite -- the total destruction (or submission) of the enemy. Even today, Islamic terrorists use the word "peace" when communicating with the West. However, "peace" has a very different meaning to a religious Moslem.

Pagan customs which predate Islam remain an integral part of it to this day. Muhammad did not change the habits and culture of the Arab people but rather exploited their violent creed to create a militant power, rather than bring about humanitarian doctrine and social justice.

INFIDELS UNDER ISLAM

In due time, willing or unwilling, the last of the Bedouins rallied behind Muhammad, and even the merchants gave him support, though more out of fear than reverence.

Muhammad forbade both Jews and Christians from entering the cities of Mecca and Medina, which he proclaimed to be holy. He did allow "infidels" (non-Moslems) to live in conquered territories only as second class citizens, devoid of rights and subject to discriminatory taxes and humiliation. Followers of Islam were limited to paying only 10 percent of their properties in alms, but "infidels" faced much high taxation, bankrolling Muhammad's military ventures.

ISLAMIC EXPANSION

Muhammad left little indication that he gave any thought to what was going to occur after he departed. He died in 632 AD, and his only son perished soon thereafter, thereby ending any hopes of a succession by a natural heir. But, the movement Muhammad founded carried on without him.

Muhammad's true successors were the Caliphs (literally "the one who takes the place" of Muhammad), who ruled as the vicars and lieutenants of Allah on earth, and the generals known as Kalibs, or "swords of Islam." In an effort to convert the world to the new faith, they began a series of expansionist campaigns. They attacked in raiding parties of a few thousand men, a tactic that proved effective.

The Islamic legions fought with great savagery, fueled by mystical enthusiasm, and quickly subdued large territories. With great ferocity and mass assaults, they defeated the Byzantines. The Sassanids of Persia and Damascus fell in 635, Jerusalem in 638, and Caesarea in 640.

THE FIRST "MARTYR"

In spite of these successes, it was not until 656 that Ali, Muhammad's cousin, assumed power and moved the capitol to Kuffa in Iraq. The Omayyads of Damascus promptly marched on Kuffa. In order to stop the bloodshed, Ali arranged a compromise. This proved to be an unwise move. The war broke out again in 657 and the murderous tribe of the Kharjites killed Ali in the mosque at Kuffa in January of 661. His assassination, however, only made a martyr out of Ali and began the great schism which still exists in Islam. The Sunnites, with their center now in Saudi Arabia, accept the authority of the Caliphs, while the Shiites, centered now mainly in Iran, recognize only the direct descendants of the prophets.

The Omayyads occupied the Caliphate for 90 years and were overthrown by a revolution in 750. The Caliphate was assumed by Abbas of Baghdad, a purist who recognized only descendants of the prophet and who took his name from the original Abbas, the uncle of Muhammad. The Abbassites ruled over present day Iran and Iraq and established a system of Caliphates that continued for several hundred years.

THE ISLAMIC MIDDLE AGES

In the tenth and eleventh centuries the Caliphate passed to the Seljuic Turks, famous among whom was Salah-a-din (known to us as Saladin). After the Crusades (during the eleventh to the thirteenth centuries) came the Mongolian hordes, who killed the last of the Caliphs of Baghdad. The Timurids of Tamerlane conquered Iran in the fifteenth century and the Mamelukes took over Turkey and established the Ottoman Empire. The last Caliph of Europe met his end in 1492, when the Christians drove Boabdil out of his last stronghold in Granada, Spain. This was also the same year that King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella expelled the Jews and Columbus sailed for the new world.

These defeats, however, did not spell the end of Islam. Its mystical exuberance and fanaticism overcame all odds and the religion continued to spread in large parts of India, Africa, and Asia.

THE ISLAMIC LEGACY

The army of Islam is now called the Moslem faith. The essential weapons continue to be mobility, surprise, and a fanatical enthusiasm totally incomprehensible to the Western mind. As in ancient times, each man believes it to be his duty and honor -- and even his only glory -- to fight and die under the banner of Allah.

The Islamic hordes of old would attack in waves, dying by the thousands with one end in mind: to destroy all that does not accept Muhammad and his teachings and seize booty, just as they had in tribal raids. Contemporary Islamic forces carry with them the history and legacy of the tribal marauders, using every slight irregularity in the terrain and every weakness found in the ranks of their enemies to their advantage.

Today these tactics have been modernized and updated; they now use the western world's softness and lack of understanding of the type of conflict in which it is engaged. Islam's main weapon was, and still is, the sewing of terror and panic among their victims. They have perfected it and know how to employ it. And since they still do not know how to fight an organized military war, as evidenced in their massive defeats at the hands of Israel, they revert to what has been successful for them in past centuries: terrorism, subversion and murder.

THE DHIMMI

CHRISTIANS AND JEWS

UNDER ISLAM: A RECORD OF REPRESSION

"This is my commandment, that you love one another, as I have loved you."

- Jesus Christ, John 15:12

"Two religions shall not remain together... Slay them whenever you encounter them."

- Muhammad, the Koran

A Question of Urgency

In the Middle East, in Africa, and even in Europe and America, Islam is everywhere on the march. It is militant, heavily armed, flush with petro-dollars, and heady from recent victories by the PLO and Iran. It shows no hesitation to take advantage of the liberties offered by predominantly Christian Western countries, for the express purpose of undermining Christianity and Western civilization. In this the Moslems have adopted methods pioneered by the communists and fascists who used liberty to destroy liberty.

This new Moslem crusade has raised a number of crucial questions, among them: what will happen to religious minorities -- especially Christians and Jews -- in areas taken over by militant Islam?

This matter is particularly urgent in view of American pressure on Israel to hand over generous portions of its small territory to Palestinian Arabs. In addition, in several African countries -- notably Sudan -- Islamic regimes seek to completely eliminate all opposition, especially among Christians.

The short answer, as set forth by French Protestant theologian Jacques Ellul, is that Christians and Jews can expect the same sort of treatment from "conquering Islam" that they have in the past. But what sort of treatment is that? Material which would answer that question has always existed, but until now has been relatively scattered and obscure. Now much of it has been collected and published, and the Christian church may benefit thereby,

The Dhimmi

The single most important work on this subject is by an Egyptian named Bat Ye'or ("Daughter of the Nile"). The Dhimmi: Jews and Christians Under Islam examines the record of minorities under Islam from the point of view of the Christians and Jews themselves, along with the accounts of outsiders.

The "Dhimmi" is the Arab word for minorities, meaning "protected ones." But from whom did Christians and Jews need to be protected? The author makes it clear that it was from the ruling Moslems in the places where they lived. And the author is specific that their second-class status is something inherent to Islam, particularly to the jihad or "holy war" concept.

It should be noted that Fanatical Moslems believe that all non-Moslems (Christians and Jews) must be put to death. Indeed, that is the teaching of the Koran. It is only the more moderates who would be content with simple subjection or slavery. However, oppression of non-Moslems is something that has been incumbent upon all Moslem believers from the seventh century on, which is where Ye'or's account begins.

The Historical Record

In the early going, the Moslems put many Christians, Jews, and other groups to the sword. But, then as now, the logistics of killing all non-Moslems created problems. So the Moslem imperialists simply reduced those who remained to slavery or second-class status. It should be noted that the subject peoples were in all cases from more advanced civilizations. Their taxes and subjection enabled the Moslems to spread their Jihad to new areas.

People as Property

The slaves of Muslim masters were counted to him as property, much like his sheep and goats. This was done on a strictly religious basis, and the slaves were passed on from generation to generation like any other possession. This sort of system has continued into modern times.

Recently, the British government fined two Kuwaiti princesses for enslaving an East Indian woman,

Dear Mr. Lamb,

I wonder if you understand the power of your program?

The enclosed OPEN LETTER, brings the problem up to date.

Question: Will you, or the writers and reporters you have on your programs, EXPOSE THE SITUATION, OR BECOME PARTS OF THE COVER UP?

Settled peacefully, or with a war, the problem still exists:

DO WE PAY ANY PRICE FOR OIL AND CONTINUE TO GLUTTONIZE OUR ENEMIES, (ISLAM,) OR DO WE UNDERTAKE WHATEVER PROGRAMS WE NEED: gas rationing, telling the American people to conserve, STOP INFLATION by not buying gasoline, set up educational TV communications and keep students at home, encourage workers to take work home from the office, with closed tv, FAX machines and phone and radio and tv hookups coasting less than rental of garages AFTER YOU DRIVE TO THE OFFICE, etc.

You are a great moderator, but there comes a time when even Dan Rather, if he was a real American would forgo his $3,500,000 salary and tell the American people the truth:

WE ARE GLUTTONIZING AND PROTECTING OUR WORSE ENEMY IN HISTORY... AND POVERTIZING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ...IN FACT FORCEING THEM INTO DOPE, CRIME, MURDER ON THE STREETS, TO MAKE A LIVING AT THESE INFLATED CARZY PRICES ALL DUE TO OIL BLACKMAIL!

I will furnish 17 years of materila, AT MY EXPENSE, and you can have the Pulitzer or Peace Prize...but you must expose the ridiculous positionof oil blackmail as the cause of "desert shield," and the collapse fo the American economy.

Are you serious, IF NOT NOW WHEN, IF NOT YOU WHO?

Bush Uses Iraq War To Coverup His Failure In - S&L Crisis - Recession - Budget Deficit - Unemployment

DEC -5 ANS'D

Economic Crisis Grows As Bush Blames All Problems On Iraq And Hussein And Public Attention Is Diverted !

The Washington based Center for Strategic Studies head, Edward Luttwak, said: "Pres. Bush is fleeing from the intractable economic problems at home to a more attractive geopolitical role."

Unfortunately, many Americans can concentrate only on one major crisis at a time. Thus a Gulf war makes the growing economic catastrophe here at home seem insignificant. Throughout history leaders have used outside threats (or enemies) to divert the public's attention away from the truly serious problems at hand.

President George Bush

President Saddam Hussein

Pres. Bush was in a state of panic when his popularity fell in the polls from 74% to 48% after he reneged on his famous pledge to the American voters: "Read My Lips - No New Taxes. However, all the current war talk has blocked this from the minds of most people. Bush's new "Macho - pro-war image" has boosted his rating up to 80%. Still he is walking on quicksand because 52% want the crisis resolved without war. This figure will grow as more and more people begin to understand the grave problems we face on the home front.

America On The Brink Of Catastrophe

1) The Recession is rapidly spreading to every sector of the economy. High fuel costs will hasten and deepen it. Still Bush feels that by maintaining the "war fever" people will overlook the economic collapse. Unemployment will soon exceed 6% !

2) The Budget Deficit was estimated by Bush to be "only" $100 billion for this year. Now the Office of Management & Budget reports that it will be $232 billion. Bush proposes to counter this by raising taxes by $14 billion. However this will be offset by the $45 million a day it costs to keep the U.S. Army in Saudi Arabia.

While Bush will sock the working middle class hard with new taxes he has not forgotten his promise to reward his wealthy friends who put him in office. He is still pushing to cut the capital gains tax from 28% to 19%. This will benefit only 1% of the richest families with an average savings of $20,000. How can Bush justify this loss to the U.S. Treasury of $11.4 billion in revenue ?

3) The S&L collapse is now estimated to cost the U.S. taxpayers $500 billion (or half a Trillion !) As Vice-president George Bush headed the commission which deregulated the S&Ls in 1982. William F. Buckley just days prior to the Gulf crisis stated: "Bush is now the S&L President and this will be his Waterloo." (The Gulf war talk has smothered this issue.)

4) Big Banks face disaster. U.S. News of Aug. 13th reports that 1 in every 12 banks is in trouble. The top 10 banks have written off $40 billion of bad loans as "uncollectibles" - money invested in Third World countries, junk bond corporate raiders, the collapse of real estate values, etc.

Buchanan: "Israel Wants War"

Buchanan Leads Conservative Opposition To War

Pat Buchanan, in his column of Aug. 27, made it quite clear as to exactly who the warmongers are.

Buchanan says there are two spheres on this issue. First are the "Goldwater Republican ideological conservatives" who are against a war. Next are the "Rockefeller Eastern Establishment neo-conservatives" who demand war now ! Buchanan calls them "neo-cons" and lists them as follows:

Abe Rosenthal, "who wants to castrate Iraq and kill Saddam's regime."

Richard Perle, "who wants a preemptive strike on Iraq."

Henry Kissinger, "who calls for a surgical and progressive destruction of Iraq."

Charles Krauthammer "who wants a Morgenthau Plan to turn Iraq into a pasture."

(Note: It is of interest that all of the above just happen to be Zionist Jews !)

Pat Buchanan - America's spokesman for the Christian conservative movement.

Pat Buchanan ends with these words: "Perhaps the neo-cons will get their way because Israel has been goading us to attack and are confidently predicting war. For What ? Iraq has not threatened our security and Saddam Hussein is no Adolf Hitler.

"Abe Rosenthal's talk of Hussein threatening the world with mass destruction is hyperbolic nonsense. We have been told that Israel is our strategic asset in the Middle East. But, when the crisis came, the asset suddenly becomes a huge liability ?"

Israel was the only country to urge Pres. Bush to wage war on Iraq as early as Aug. 20th. At the same time the Jews announced that none of their young soldiers would participate in the fighting and dying.

Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, (one of the very few true civil libertarians) stated: "I think it's a serious mistake for the U.S. to place its military in Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf. We can't police the entire world."

Israeli Embassy Attacks Pat Buchanan

(Below reproduced from Israeli Embassy Newsletter - "Near East Report" 9/3/90)

One of Israel's harshest foes in the media today is columnist and television commentator Patrick Buchanan. Buchanan, a critic of President Bush's tough stance against Iraqi aggression, rarely passes up a chance to snipe at U.S. support for its closest friend in the region: Israel.

Appearing on the "McLaughlin Group" (Aug. 26), Buchanan charged that only Israel and its American supporters want war in the Middle East.

Buchanan's charge was condemned as a "vicious allegation" by the Anti-Defamation League. Buchanan's comment, ADL national director Abraham Foxman said, "is reminiscent of scurrilous charges made during World War II that Jews were the only ones who sought American entry into the war against Nazi Germany."

After the Palestine Liberation Front's May 30 attempt to massacre Israeli sunbathers, Buchanan wrote almost sympathetically of Yasir Arafat's refusal to denounce the raid. "Should he denounce it, only days after Israel brutally crushed a resurgent intifada, Arafat would appear an appeaser and a weak leader," he said (Washington Times June 4, 1990).

The columnist's views on the Middle East contrast sharply with those of his former boss, President Reagan. While Reagan was a true friend of Israel, Buchanan makes Congress sound almost unpatriotic for approving aid to the Jewish State. "We have a mighty Israeli lobby," Buchanan has written. "Anyone here have an address for the America lobby?" (Washington Times, July 31, 1989).

Last summer, Buchanan issued a veritable call for Catholic-Jewish warfare. When Cardinal John O'Connor attempted to mediate the dispute over a Carmelite convent at Auschwitz, Buchanan accused him of practicing "appeasement" toward "U.S. Jewry." When O'Connor tells the "always irate Elie Wiesel" that this "is not a fight between Catholics and Jews," Buchanan wrote, "he speaks for himself." The columnist ominously urged O'Connor to "step aside" in favor of other "defender[s] of the faith."

Bush Uses Gulf War To Coverup His Failure To Control - S&L Collapse - Recession - Debt Deficit - Unemployment

wealthy. Bush's millionaire Texas oil friends financed his presidential campaign. With the sharp rise in oil prices they are all making a killing - at our expense!

It is estimated that we poor middle class workers will be paying around $1.60 a gallon for regular gas by January. Bush and his friends will become richer and richer. He plans to blame the high cost of gas and home heating oil on Hussein!

In the Salt Dome Caverns of Louisiana and Texas the government holds our "Strategic Petroleum Reserves" of 580 million barrels of oil. America uses 17 million barrels of oil a day and 700,000 barrels came from Iraq and Kuwait. Thus Rep. Phil Sharp of Indiana has urged Bush to release one-million barrels of oil a day. This would immediately reduce the price of gas and home heating oil to pre-Gulf crisis levels. However Bush and his millionaire oil friends say they will have nothing to do with such a plan!

There is another reason why Bush wants sky-high oil prices. He has a scheme to add a 30 cent a gallon tax on gas when the phony "crisis" is over. Thus when prices begin to drop the public will not notice the new tax!

It must be remembered that the big oil billionaires, such as David Rockefeller of Standard Oil and the Rothschilds of British Petroleum Oil, etc. have a great deal to gain by a war with Iraq. They fear, more than anything else in the world, that their chief source of wealth might be confiscated from them by the Arab Baathist Party which wants to redistribute these billions to the poor people of Arabia. This is exactly what the warmongering is all about. (Read our article - Big Oil And The Billionaire Emirs.)

Opposes Oil WarMarine Refuses To Fight For Gulf Oil Co.

Hawthorn, Calif. Marine Lance Corporal, Erik Larsen, 23, spoke to a crowded press conference. Larsen said he informed the U.S. Marine Corps that he refuses to fight for BP Oil Co. and Gulf Oil Co. who are the only big businesses operating in Kuwait.

Larsen said that American youths should not be asked to fight and die to get back the billion dollar drilling investments of the two big oil giants which are illegally squatting on land which rightfully belongs to Iraq. He added:

"I hope to God that it won't take a row of body bags to finally wake people up. I hope my statement today and my refusal to support this war in some way helps end U.S. military involvement in the Middle East."

At the same time another Marine stationed in Hawaii, Jeff Patterson, spoke out in support of Larsen. He is now on a hunger strike in refusing to go to Saudi Arabia to fight Iraq!

(Below from Jewish World)

Four months ago, Washington was abuzz with talk about cuts in foreign aid — and in particular, aid to Israel, the leading recipient of American dollars.

Now, with Saddam Hussein threatening the Persian Gulf region and American troops digging into the Saudi deserts, Israeli officials think the time might be right to ask for an increase in aid for the next budget year.

Rep. Joseph Lieberman

Jewish Leaders in both Israel and in America are using all of the pressure at their command to bring about a war. Not only that but they are using the crisis as an excuse to ask for an increase in U.S. Foreign Aid and also for "forgiveness" of a $4 billion loan.

While they cannot give a good excuse for the "extra aid" their agents on Capitol Hill are working hard for their Jewish masters. Rep. Joseph Lieberman (D-Conn.), said: "Now is the time to give Israel more money!"

It should be noted that Israel already receives $3 billion in free grants plus $1 billion more in "extra aid." Now they want another $1 billion in our newest and most sophisticated weapons stored on U.S. Army bases in Europe. They want it shipped to Tel Aviv NOW!

It should be noted that U.S. Foreign Aid comes to $14 billion a year and Israel's request this year will amount to $5 billion. This is one of the tiniest countries in the world yet they want over one-third of our aid money! Is this fair to the many truly poor and needy countries???

Broward Jewish World Israel Wants More Money

The case for $3 billion in U.S. aid to Israel, and possibly even an increase, is strengthened. Even Israel's enemies secretly are looking to her for some protection if Iraq goes too far. No one can preclude the need for the United States to ask Israel for help —

Knight-Ridder News Service
U.S. Should Attack Iraq

Some Israeli analysts believe President Bush would decide to strike directly at Baghdad. Others, like Joseph Alpher, deputy director of Tel Aviv University's Jaffe Center for Strategic Studies, said the most likely scenario involved a monumental U.S. strike on Iraqi forces in Kuwait.

"The Americans have already reached a point of no return," wrote Ron Ben-Yishai, military analyst for Yediot Ahronot, an Israeli newspaper. "They, as a nation, and Bush, as a leader, will today pay a higher price if they back down than if they enter into a full military conflict with Saddam Hussein."

Jews Push U.S. Towards WarJews Secretly Promote War Against Iraq

Baltimore Jewish Times editor, Ira Rifkin on Aug. 31st wrote: "Jewish organizations sought to maintain a low profile over the Persian Gulf crisis. . . We're attempting to be low-key but not invisible."

There are two reasons for their secrecy.

First Saddam Hussein has offered to withdraw his forces from Kuwait if Israel will withdraw their troops from Gaza, West Bank, Golan Heights and South Lebanon. The Jews want no discussion on this practical offer.

Second There is a top-secret behind the scenes drive by every Jewish organization in America to get America into a war. (While Israel stays out - with no risk to their soldiers.)

Kissinger Wants War

The Toronto Globe of Aug. 23 quotes Henry Kissinger as stating: "We want a sharp and short crisis with the U.S. opening hostilities. We could eliminate Iraqi air power and destroy all of her military assets."

The Atlanta Constitution of Aug. 30 quotes Israel's former secret police chief, Shlomo Gazit as declaring: "Saddam Hussein must be destroyed. Someone has to find him in his bunker and kill him!"

New York Times Jewish columnist William Safire wrote: "Hussein is another Hitler. Our purpose is to remove him without delay. Dialogue will only lead to appeasement. We should bomb every war making center in Iraq. We should wage World War Two & A-Half to bring down Hussein. If he uses hostages as human shields we can hold war-crime nal trials and hang him from the gallows."

Sharon - "Strike Now"

Ariel Sharon, Israel's former Defense Minister, who is nicknamed, "The Butcher of Lebanon" said on Aug. 23, "Soon we will be seeing pictures of hungry Iraqi children and babies on television. Then comes the demands to bring the troops home before the holidays. The Americans should strike now, even if they precipitate a war!"

Atlanta Jewish Times editorial of Aug. 31: "Pres. Bush has done a sterling job of handling the military crisis. . . but he has done a less thorough job of explaining why it is necessary to risk war!"

The Jerusalem Post military analysis, David Makovsky on Sept. 1st stated: "Israel favors a wider military attack than the U.S. envisions. Israel would like the U.S. to devastate Iraq's military capabilities and prevent Hussein from destabilizing the Gulf Sheikdoms. A withdrawal of Hussein from Kuwait would be less than satisfactory for Israel. It would be preferable for his own people to kill him!"

All Jews Back War

The Atlanta Constitution of Sept. 5th reported: "Many U.S. Jewish leaders strongly support the Bush policy. . . eleven leaders from a broad range of Jewish organizations issued a statement assuring the administration that the Jewish community fully supports Pres. Bush's Policy."

Washington Post 8/18/90
Urge Swift U.S. Strike

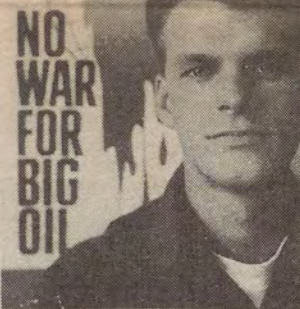

During the course of the crisis, Israeli officials and some politicians have expressed concern that the United States will not have the resolve to move forcefully against Saddam if sanctions appear to be failing. But one senior official today said that in the government's view "it now seems that [President] Bush is determined to take action, even if the bureaucrats try and stop him."

Although military ground action against Iraq's huge army would be infeasible in the near future, Israeli analysts believe the United States could deal a crushing blow to Saddam by massing all of its air power for a coordinated attack.

Warmongering Diverts Public Attention From Bush Family Involvement In S&L Scandal

Did Bush Take US To Brink Of War
To Cover-Up Son's S & L Crimes ???

October, 1988 - one month before George Bush is elected President - he places a call to Savings And Loan regulator Kermit Mowbray in Topeka, Kansas. Bush orders him to postpone the closing of his son's S & L for one month. Then on Nov. 9th, the day after he is elected President, Mowbray finally places the Silverado S & L in receivership. It is soon revealed that Neil Bush is deeply involved in the second largest of the failures which alone will cost taxpayers $1.1 billion!

Is Iraq War "Operation Counterpunch" ?

It is a recognized fact that the public can only concentrate on one single major political crisis at a time. The war hysteria over Iraq has completely obliterated the massive S & L scandal from people's minds.

U.S. News of Aug. 13th reports that the president's advisors have come up with a secret plan called "Operation Counterpunch" to squelch publicity and Bush's official biographer Vic Gold has urged Neil to "keep his mouth shut." The article adds:

"The First Family and the White House are increasingly unsettled by 'the Neil thing' and the whole S&L fiasco. Pres. Bush now fears the scandal could undermine his re-election in 1992, in part because his son has become so enmeshed in the continuing S&L story."

Neil Bush Involvement Detailed

First let us recall that it was none other than Vice Pres. Bush who in 1982 headed the "Task Force on Bank Deregulation" which set the stage for the removal from federal regulators of their powers to insure sound banking practices. This allowed the S&Ls to begin their wild speculation and outright thievery of billions in taxpayer insured S&L deposits. Thus Bush and his son Neil are both directly linked to the worst banking calamity in all history

In 1980 two Jews, Michael Wise and Jim Metz, took over the Silverado Savings & Loan Assn. They wanted influence in Washington and placed Neil Bush and his friends Bill Walters and two Jews, Kenneth Good and Attorney Norman Brownstein on Silverado's Board of Directors.

Neil Bush started the JNB oil drilling company which was admittedly a high-risk venture. Bill Walters invested $150,000 in JNB. Kenneth Good invested $10,000 and established a line of credit for JNB of $1.7 million in a bank controlled by Walters. Next we have the infamous $100,000 "loan" which Good gave to Bush with a highly unusual provision. It would be forgiven if JNB failed which is exactly what happened costing investors millions.

Bush admitted before a Congressional investigating committee that Good's $100,000 loan might "sound fishy and was an incredibly sweet deal." In return for all this "friendship" Bush voted to have Silverado "forgive" Good for a previous $11.5 million loan and voted to approve a new $3 million loan to Good. Both Bush and Atty. Brownstein were members of Good's "Gulfstream Corp." which also collapsed losing another $240 million.

Neil Bush helped Walters out by voting him a Silverado loan of $103 million. This sum was also promptly lost by Walter's MDC building firm.

The Middleman Lawyer

Jewish Attorney Norman Brownstein heads a 50 member law firm in Denver. He was involved in numerous conflict of interest situations regarding Silverado and those who milked it dry. Brownstein, as a lawyer, represented Silverado, Walter's MDC Co., sat on the board of MDC, represented Good and both he and Bush sat on Good's Gulfstream board.

U.S. News reports that Brownstein "regularly tapped Silverado sources for $424,000 in donations to political candidates in both parties."

Last, but not least, just as Silverado was collapsing, its chairman, Michael Wise, voted himself $1.3 million in salary and bonuses and another $1.4 million for the other bank officers.

Neil Bush has been called "the poster child of the S&L crisis." Bank regulators call him both "unqualified and untrained" to be a member of the board of any bank. Another indication of his guilt in this sordid affair is the fact that he placed his $500,000 home in his wife Sharon's name to protect the property from outraged creditors!

The $500 billion bailout of the savings and loan industry will cost every child, woman and man over $2,000. These crimes were committed by the rich, for the rich and THEY SHOULD PAY.

President & son are deeply involved in scandal !

Kenneth Good, nicknamed "The Rabbi" by Neil Bush, looted S&L funds.

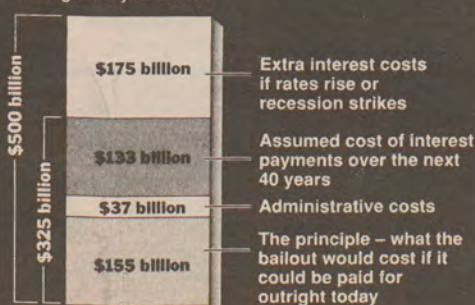

Michael Wise, president of Silverado S&L, got Neil Bush to stall bank regulators for more time to milk the bank dry !

Shortly thereafter Pres. Bush created all this hoopla over a war with Iraq at a time when many journalists were predicting that the S&L crisis could make him a one term President. At the same time there is still the matter of his phone call to Kermit Mowbray blocking the closing of his son's S&L until after the election. This act of "obstruction" may well be an impeachable offense - just like that of Richard Nixon !

Big Vote For Nugent

Jack Nugent Polls
29% of The Vote

Tennessee's Sixth Congressional District's recent election found newcomer, Jack Nugent, receiving a significant portion of the vote. After only six weeks of campaigning with very limited funding Jack received 29% of the vote. His opponents Wallace Embry polled 33% and winner Gregory Cochran 38%. (There is no runoff in Tenn.)

Jack Nugent

What these figures prove is that a small shift of only 5% of the vote would have made Nugent the Republican nominee.

Nugent's Populist Platform

Jack Nugent did remarkably well among all segments of the electorate - working class as well as middle and upper income people. His platform called for -

- 1) No more foreign aid.
- 2) Workfare - not welfare.
- 3) Stop illegal immigration.
- 4) The death penalty for repeat rapists, child molesters and spies (such as Israel's Pollards.)
- 5) End reverse discrimination against White people.
- 6) Elect Federal judges.
- 7) Preserve the Right To Bear Arms !

Jack Nugent addressed a press conference stating:

"White people are losing their rights in America. I'm willing to take the abuse from the media because someone has got to speak out before it is too late ! I moved to Tenn. because it is a courageous state where White people care about their rights."

"They have welcomed me into their hearts and I have received a tremendous response. Today there is hardly one politician who will even use the words 'White People's Rights' anymore !"

With Jack Nugent planning a new race in 1992 fireworks are once again assured.

Why Britain Took Kuwait Away From Iraq

The History of Kuwait A Nation Owned By Big Oil

Kuwait and Iraq were one country during the 400 year rule under the Turkish Ottoman Empire (years 1514 to 1914.) During most of this period almost no one lived in this steaming desert part of Iraq known as Kuwait because oil had not as yet been discovered ! With Turkish permission the British East India Company was allowed to establish a trading post along the coastal part of Kuwait in 1775. The British made this into an important transit point between India and Europe.

As Turkish power waned the British appointed the Al-Sabah family as the ruling Sheikhs over the local Arabs who began moving into Kuwait seeking work. In 1899 Mubarak Al-Sabah made a deal with England. In exchange for protection and trade Britain would control Kuwait's foreign policy. Thus Kuwait became a vassal state under British rule for the next 70 years. This began England's policy of establishing Sheikdoms in Bahrain, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, etc. These are actually family dictatorships in which a small few become billionaires while the mass of the Arab people languish in poverty.

With the defeat of Turkey in World War One Britain seized all of Arabia including Iraq. They installed King Faisal as their newest puppet to rule over Iraq in 1920. At the insistence of the League of Nations Iraq was granted independence in 1932. Kuwait continued to be ruled by the dictatorial Al-Sabah family under British military protection.

The British had two reasons for taking Kuwait away from Iraq and turning it into a colony. First, they wanted Iraq to be landlocked and dependent upon Britain for the only deep water port in the area. Secondly, Germany wanted to build a Berlin to Baghdad railroad and this would have prevented them from having any outlet to the Persian Gulf.

Facts About Kuwait

Kuwait is about the size of New Jersey. It is a flat desert sandy area with no vegetation and no fresh water. To survive they must depend on desalinization plants. Oil and natural gas are the only resources and 1.2 million foreign workers are employed in this industry. There are some 700,000 Kuwaitis who are citizens but they have no political rights.

Sheik Jaber Al-Sabah rules as an iron fisted dictator. He appoints all members of the government. No political parties are allowed. Sheik Al-Sabah has over $100 billion invested overseas in the U.S., Britain, West Germany and Spain. He is one of the richest men in the world

Oil Discovered In 1938

Kuwait suddenly became a prize to be cherished after oil was discovered in 1938. The British Petroleum Oil Company (B.P. Oil) and the Gulf Oil Company were given exclusive rights to begin massive drilling and the Al-Sabah's went from millionaires to billionaires and one of the wealthiest families in the world. It must be stressed that throughout this period Iraq continued to make public its claim to Kuwait

The British were in the process of dismantling their empire world-wide and in 1961 granted Kuwait independence. A few weeks later Iraq's ruler, Gen. Abdul Kareem Kassim announced that his army was going to take back Kuwait. He declared:

"We shall extend Iraq's borders to the south of Kuwait. The people of Kuwait are people of Iraq. The era of Sheikdoms is over. The people of Kuwait are still groaning under the oppression of British imperialism. One giant step will uproot imperialism from the earth and drive away its shadow."

Army Protects Oil Companies

This brought the British rushing back in with troops and tanks to protect the holdings of Gulf Oil and BP Oil. Iraq broke diplomatic relations with the U.S. briefly when we backed up the British against Iraq's claim to Kuwait in 1961. In 1971 the British ended their defense treaty with Iraq. The very next year in 1972 the first U.S. ambassador arrived in Kuwait and "unofficially" accepted Britain's "protectorate role" on behalf of the big oil companies. This is how we became Kuwait's chief source of military protection today. Our young men are thereby sweating it out in 120 degree desert heat - placed there to fight and die for the sole purpose of defending the oil companies billion dollar investments !

Kuwait Was Brutal Feudal Tyranny

President Saddam Hussein has redistributed Iraq's wealth to the benefit of his people who enjoy the highest standard of living in the Middle East !

A study of this map makes it very easy to see that Kuwait is a natural extension of Iraq's boundaries to the Persian Gulf.

Sheik Jaber Al-Sabah and 200 of his "princes," (relatives), are all millionaires. They have never worked a day in their lives while the people live in poverty. Should our youths fight and die to maintain their standard of living ?

IRA RIFKIN Special to the Jewish Times

American Jewish organizations walked a thin line this week. They sought to maintain a low profile over the Persian Gulf crisis while trying to counter attempts to link Iraq's occupation of Kuwait with Israel's presence in its territories.

Agency fax machines churned out a steady stream

Big Oil And The Billionaire Sheikhs

There are no democracies in the Middle East and this includes Israel. The Palestinians on the occupied West Bank have absolutely no rights and those on the East Bank (Israel) have no actual equal rights. Iraq is a dictatorship - there is no question about it. However, let's consider the true situation there.

While Christianity has been totally outlawed in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and the Emirats, it was long ago legalized in Iraq. In fact there are over 200 Protestant and Catholic churches operating freely in Iraq ! There is even one Synagogue in Baghdad. Local Jews have in no way experienced any persecution. (There goes the smear that Hussein is another Hitler.)

Women In Iraq

Women in Iraq have been granted full rights with men. They do not have to wear veils or be isolated from society, etc. If you want to order a mixed drink with a meal it is perfectly legal in Iraq while considered a serious crime in the Sheikdoms!

Women in Saudi Arabia are not allowed to drive a car. They can carry no money and must have a man with them before they can purchase anything. When walking by a man on the street they must look down at the ground so that their eyes do not meet, etc.

There are 200 "princes" in the phony entity of Kuwait. (All related to Sheik Jaber Al-Sabah.) Mr. Marshall W. Wiley, who assists companies who once were able to carry on business with Iraq says: "You don't have to find a prince to bribe to obtain a contract in Iraq."

Saddam Hussein is no saint but he is no devil either. No one has ever accused Hussein of seeking to enrich himself. In fact he has carefully redistributed the Iraq's oil wealth among the Iraqi people who enjoy the highest standard of living in the Middle East. This is the reason why the Palestine people overwhelmingly support Hussein. He has promised to redistribute the oil wealth of Kuwait to all the oppressed Arab people in the area. This is why he is so hated by the oil Sheikhs, the big oil companies and the oil rich George Bush types !

Why Are We In Arabia ?

Why should we care who sells us oil ? Hussein is desperate to sell us cheap oil. We say - buy Iraq's oil - stay out of Arab's disputes - bring our boys and girls home - stop this despicable warmongering against Iraq - by spreading THE TRUTH AT LAST !

War To Protect Big Oil ?

The British controlled the Persian Gulf after World War One and appointed all the "royal families" who today control the oil rich Sheikdoms of Kuwait, Qatar, Bahrain, Oman and the United Arab Emirates. They are paid handsomely to hold these lands for the big oil companies.

Pres. Bush dragged out an old speech by Franklin D. Roosevelt which he copied in saying:

"Now is the time for all Americans to unite against a common foe. We must put all our differences aside and see this crisis through to victory !"

Bush didn't dare use FDR's famous saying that we are all fighting to preserve democracy.

The U.N. Commission on Human Rights has condemned both Saudi Arabia and Albania as being two of the most brutal tyrannies in the world. If you are accused of stealing in Saudi Arabia they will cut your hand off. If you utter an insult about the king you can be beheaded. Thus we are certainly not fighting for Democracy in Arabia !

Recently you may have read of a Saudi "prince" who lost $12.4 million gambling in Monte Carlo in one night. Are we supposed to fight and die to maintain his high living extravagance in countries where such "royalty" have left their own people living on the brink of starvation ?

Israel On The Spot

Buchanan: "Hitler Smear Ploy To Force War!"

Pat Buchanan - Hussein Is Not Hitler

Buchanan's column of Aug. 18th carried the following thoughtful observation: "I'm concerned with the extent of rhetorical commitment he's making. By comparing Iraq to Nazi Germany and using the Hitler analogy, Bush is virtually ruling out any negotiated settlement."

Pat Buchanan in his column of Sept 3rd blasts the propaganda drive for war with these words:

"Is George Bush about to become a war president? His ultimatum to Saddam is to get his army out, remove his puppet government, put the emir back on his throne!

"Yet, to demand this is to demand that the Iraq dictator commit suicide, that he resign himself to living in Arab history as a coward who caved in to the U.S. Even Adolf Hitler preferred to die, a suicide in his bunker, than agree to such a disgrace.

War Propaganda

"Turning up the volume, Mr. Bush directly compared Iraq to the Third Reich. By using the Hitler analogy, Mr. Bush is virtually ruling out any negotiated settlement. For, to modern man, Hitler is evil incarnate: any leader who 'cuts a deal' with him is guilty of 'another Munich,' a fatal political charge.

"If Hitler is on the loose, where are the British and our other allies? Why did Bush return to Kennebunkport and his golf while Dan Quayle headed off to Arizona for his vacation?

"If there is war how will it end? After destroying Iraq's army our occupation troops would become targets of the same terrorists who picked off our Marines in Lebanon. How long will Americans support a Korea-style occupation of the Arabian Peninsula?"

"Beware of Flaw In Calling Saddam A Hitler"

Atlanta Constitution Negro writer John Head used these words in his column of Sept. 3rd. Head wrote:

"George Bush pulled out the old Hitler analogy early on after Iraq invaded Kuwait as an umbrella to unite Americans of all political spectrums and to avoid any criticism. (After all, who can criticize someone who is fighting Hitler?)

"However this policy is based on foolishness. I doubt if the U.S. would have reacted if Kuwait was a dirt poor nation. Like any addict we'll go to great lengths to keep the oil fix flowing. Our goal should be to prevent further hostilities, to bring about a peaceful and just solution to the crisis."

William Safire

William Safire, New York Times Jewish columnist said: "Those who oppose war with Iraq are anti-Israel"

Richard Reeves

"We Are Not The World's Police Force"

These are the words of the conservative national columnist Richard Reeves who further stated:

"It is not in the vital interest of the U.S. to become or remain the military arm of the developed world. We are not the Romans or Gurkhas. I believe we should not hire out our boys to do other peoples' military dirty work.

"I do not want my children and grandchildren to live in a world where the answer to such dirty work is - 'Send in the Americans.' My fear is that we are willing to act alone, not because our vital economic interests are threatened, but because we are anxious, even panicky, about maintaining our super-power status in remaining No. 1 in the new world order."

Rosenthal Says Buchanan Is "Anti-Semitic"

(Below by Abe Rosenthal of the New York Times)

"There are only two groups that are beating the drums for war in the Middle East — the Israeli Defense Ministry and its amen corner in the United States."

Patrick Buchanan delivered that message on TV. Later in the program he said: "The Israelis want this war desperately because they want the United States to destroy the Iraqi war machine. They want us to finish them off. They don't care about our relations with the Arab world."

In case an interpretation is needed for those whose ears are not attuned to anti-Semitism or do not want to understand what this man is saying, here is mine:

"The Jews are trying to drag us into war. Only Jews want war. Israeli Jews want war to save Israel's hide. American Jews who talk of military action against Iraq want war because it would suit Israeli interests. They are willing to spill American blood for Israeli interests."

We are not dealing here with country-club anti-Semitism but with the blood libel that often grows out of it: Jews are not like us but are others, with alien loyalties for which they will sacrifice the lives of Americans.

Mr. Buchanan knows the importance of words. He wrote for Presidents Nixon and Reagan and now makes a fine living writing columns, making speeches, talking on TV, presenting himself as the voice of true conservatism. He is the man who told Elie Wiesel that Mr. Reagan

DALLAS — Israel's former spy chief said Wednesday that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein must die, for the sake of Arabs as well as Jews.

"For the survival of all the Arab states, Saddam Hussein has to be destroyed. . . . Someone has to find him in his bunker and kill him," Maj. Gen. Shlomo Gazit told delegates at the biennial convention of B'Nai B'rith International in Dallas.

Gazit, who headed Israeli military intelligence in the 1970s, voiced the concerns of many Israelis that Saddam could turn the Arab-Iraq conflict into an Arab-Israeli war. Another worry is for the survival of Jordan's King Hussein, a moderate in Israeli-Arab politics.

Extra Billions For Israel

New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON—The Bush administration is preparing to transfer as much as $1 billion worth of advanced weapons to Israel to buttress Israeli defenses against Iraq and offset recent arms sales to Saudi Arabia, administration officials said Friday.

Officials said the promise of advanced weaponry to Israel is intended to send a clear signal to Iraqi President Saddam Hussein that the United States intends to stand by its main Middle East ally.

American and Israeli officials are still negotiating final details of the arms package, which could include the delivery of F-15 and F-16 fighter planes, Patriot ground-to-air missiles that can be used to intercept incoming missiles, M-60 battle tanks and Apache tank-killing helicopters, largely from U.S. stockpiles in Europe.

Administration officials in recent days have reaffirmed to leaders of American Jewish groups and members of Congress the long-standing American commitment to maintain Israel's military advantage in the Middle East.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney met last week with leaders of Jewish groups, and this week a delegation of Israeli military officials, led by David Ivry, the director general of the Israeli Defense Ministry, traveled to Washington to discuss additional American military aid with the State Department and Defense Department.

Several hurdles must still be cleared to complete the proposed arms deal. One problem is matching the list of weapons that Israel wants with what the United States can afford to give up.

Israel's principal requests include Patriot ground-to-air missiles to counter enemy missiles, and top-of-the-line fighter planes to protect Israel in a multi-front air attack.

Financial terms are also under discussion.

IN SAUDI ARABIA — If the United States and Iraq go to war, the U.S. military plans to unleash a relentless air campaign designed in part to "decapitate" the Iraqi leadership by targeting President Saddam Hussein, his family, his senior commanders, his palace guard and even his mistress, according to senior U.S. military planners.

"If push came to shove, the cutting edge would be in downtown Baghdad," General Dugan said. "Saddam is a one-man show in Iraq. If for any reason he went away, those troops would pull out of Kuwait quickly and be back in Iraq within a very few hours. If and when we choose violence, he ought to be at the focus of our efforts."

General Dugan would not divulge whether U.S. officials know the precise whereabouts of Saddam or members of his inner circle, nor would he say whether senior Bush administration officials had signed off on the plan to target them in an air attack.

An air strike deliberately targeted at the Iraqi president and members of his family could prove controversial because attacks on civilian leaders generally are considered out of bounds, even in wartime.

The United States bombed Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi's home and other targets in Tripoli in 1986, but Colonel Gadhafi escaped serious injury. U.S. officials defended the raid as an effort to punish and deter terrorism, but a number of nations condemned it as a violation of international law.

MOSSAD Book Author Threatened With Death

MOSSAD Threatens To Kill Former Agent

"By Way of Deception - A Devastating Insiders Portrait of MOSSAD" is the title of the new book by former Jewish MOSSAD agent Victor Ostrovsky. Its biggest bombshell is the revelation that Israel knew in advance of the Oct. 1983 attack on the U.S. Marine barracks in Lebanon and deliberately failed to warn us. This needlessly cost the lives of 241 innocent young Americans! Ostrovsky says that Jewish leaders decided to allow the disaster to occur in order to heighten anti-Arab feelings in America.

Ostrovsky says there are between 24 and 27 MOSSAD agents spying in the U.S. They are "continuously and actively spying, recruiting, organizing and carrying out covert activities - mainly in New York and Washington which they refer to as their playground."

He explains that a chief task is to seek out Jews who are employed by Senators and Congressmen and recruit them as spies. Their job is to "mingle, look and listen." Anyone thought not to be pro-Israel is then targeted for political destruction. The Israeli Embassy will direct the 124 Jewish Political Action Committees (PACs) to spend millions to defeat any suspected foe. At the same time Israel has time and again assured our government that they have no spies in America. Ostrovsky says this secret unit is code named "AI" which is Hebrew for "Above All."

Ostrovsky Threatened With Death

Ostrovsky was born in Canada and at age 18 moved to Israel where he became the youngest officer in their army. Soon he was recruited into the MOSSAD where he served from 1984 through 1986. He decided to write the book because "the MOSSAD is out of control, a loose cannon, without any checks or balances!"

Israel's Prime Minister, Yitzhak Shamir, sought to prevent the book's publication. He bluntly said: "We have asked for an injunction because we don't want it published." In Toronto the Jewish law firm of Goodman & Carr quickly got a court order banning the book. In New York the Israeli Consulate, Yuval Rotem called the book a threat to Israel's security. He hired the Jewish law firm of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom to obtain an injunction. They went to the home of Jewish Judge Michael J. Dontzin at 1 AM in the morning and got a book ban order. However, this was overturned by an appeals court two days later.

The book's publisher, Jim McCormack of St. Martin's Press says that MOSSAD officers visited Ostrovsky's home in Ottawa. They demanded that he withdraw the book saying, "it will be for your own good." They also promised that "money would be no object" as a payoff. Ostrovsky refused and told reporters: "My life is worth nothing now." He is presently in hiding.

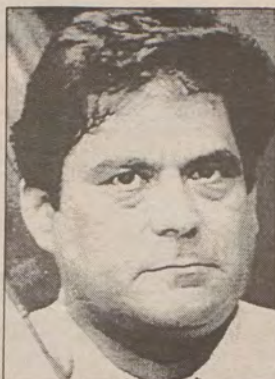

The Terrorist Career of Shamir

The ultimate head of MOSSAD is Israel's Prime Minister Shamir. He is a life long experienced terrorist leader. Shamir began his career in the early 1940s by robbing banks to raise funds for the Stern Gang. He would gun down anyone who stood in his way and his Jewish admirers nicknamed him, "The Shooter." The British called him a cold-blooded killer and placed a 10,000 pound reward on his head - "WANTED DEAD OR ALIVE!"

Shamir's first major act of international terrorism was to order the assassination of Lord Moyne in Egypt in 1944. Moyne was a foreign minister, a member of Churchill's cabinet and the owner of the famed Guinness brewery. Like others he was working for two states in Palestine - one for the Jews and one for the Palestinians.

In a 1977 interview with historian Nicholas Bethell, Shamir tried to justify the murder of Lord Moyne stating: "Without a doubt this helped the Jewish cause. Governments don't give attention to any problem until such sharp methods are used. Otherwise nothing is done. There are times when you have to use such methods!"

Shamir was one of the three heads of the Stern Gang who ordered the assassination of Sweden's Red Cross head, Count Folke Bernadotte on Sept 16, 1948. In Sept. 1988 one of the four killers who carried out the dastardly act stepped forward to reveal what happened. He is Yisrael Eldar who said that Shamir

Victor Ostrovsky, former MOSSAD agent, says Israel deliberately allowed 241 U.S. Marines die to promote anti-Arab hatred in the U.S.

Sheif Hassan Khaled was assassinated by MOSSAD because he was succeeding in bringing peace, unity and tranquility to Lebanon!

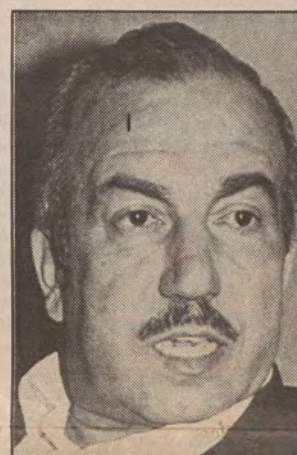

Religious Leader Slain

The assassination of Sheif Hassan Khaled on May 15, 1989 has also been blamed on MOSSAD. He was the Grand Mufti of Lebanon and head of the largest Muslim group - the Sunnis, with 900,000 adherents.

Khaled was regarded as a political moderate who worked for peaceful coexistence with Christians. (Something the Jews seek to obstruct.)

Khaled was killed instantly when a 300 pound car bomb went off in a crowded residential neighborhood. His son-in-law and 21 others also died. Khaled had just announced that he had been able to mediate a compromise settlement between warring elements.

State Dept. spokesman, Richard Boucher said, "the U.S. is revolted by this cold-blooded killing. Khaled was a selfless leader!"

Khalil Wazir, murdered on direct orders from Shamir, in his home in Tunisia.

The Car Bomb Assassinations

The World condemned the assassination of Khalil Wazir on April 15, 1988. He was second in command to Yasser Arafat. When the news first broke Shamir's chief aid, Avi Pazner denied any involvement stating; "naturally the PLO always blames Israel. This is one of their internal problems." Shamir said that any hint of his culpability was "nonsense."

However a few days later U.S. and Tunisian officials revealed the details of this merciless murder.

A MOSSAD commando squad of six men and one woman attacked Wazir's home at 3 AM. They killed three of his bodyguards with automatic weapons equipped with silencers. When Wazir came out of his bedroom, in full view of his wife, Intisar, the Jewish terrorists fired 40 rounds into his body.

To add to this horror is the fact that the female member of the hit team had only one task to perform. That was to videotape the actual slaying for the personal viewing of the blood-thirsty Shamir!

personally planned the killing. Sweden's Foreign Minister Ulf Hjertsonsson then demanded that the case be reopened and also that Israel offer an official apology. Shamir arrogantly rebuffed him and said that nothing of the sort would be forthcoming.

Intelligence experts blame MOSSAD for the Nov. 23, 1988, assassination of Lebanon's Pres. Rene Moawad, 64. He had just completed a peace accord between feuding Christian and Muslim forces which would have brought stability once again to Lebanon. But this is something the Jews strenuously oppose. The peace agreement had been arranged through the Arab League with the approval of the U.S., France and Russia.

New Book Says Shamir Ordered Assassination of Sweden's Count Bernadotte

"Bernadotte In Palestine"

is the name of a new biography by Jewish author Amitzur Ilan. Count Folke Bernadotte was the famed Swedish diplomat who headed the Red Cross during World War II. He rescued Jews and helped negotiate the end of the war.

In 1949 the U.N. dispatched Bernadotte to Palestine to work out new boundaries which would provide for a Jewish state and a free independent state for the Palestinian people. The Zionist leaders have always sought to sabotage such plans as they want the entire area for themselves.

Israel's present Prime Minister, Yitzhak Shamir, was one of the three leaders of the terrorist Jewish "Stern Gang" who gave the orders for the assassination of Count Bernadotte.

As the peace negotiator was driving through Jerusalem a truck pulled out in front of his car causing an accident. Then a gunman standing on the corner ran out and pumped five bullets into his face.

Sweden's Count Folke Bernadotte, a world renowned worker for peace !

BERNADOTTE IN PALESTINE, 1948: A Study in Contemporary Humanitarian Knight-Erantry by Amitzur Ilan. London, Macmillan. 308 pp. £35.

Bernadotte was the central figure in the UN attempt to find a peaceful solution to the dispute between Arabs and Israelis

The decision to assassinate Bernadotte was taken by the three members of the LHI (Stern Gang) Centre: Dr. Israel Eldad, the late Nathan Yellin-Mor, and Yitzhak Shamir, the present prime minister of Israel. Eldad suggested the idea, Yellin-Mor was against it, while Shamir sided with Eldad. The question of who actually carried out the order to kill Bernadotte has become a kind of national puzzle in Israel. Dr. Ilan, after a thorough investigation of this question, concludes that the identity of the killer has still not been established beyond doubt.

The assassination of Bernadotte was a senseless and completely superfluous act of political fanaticism.

But he is surprisingly lenient in his judgment about the Israel government, given the part it played in whipping up hostility towards the mediator and in the cover-up that followed his murder. Furthermore, since one of the architects of the murder is the present prime minister of Israel, the question surely deserves more public airing than it has received so far.

10 Million Russian Jews Coming ?

How Many Jews Live In Russia

THE TRUTH AT LAST
Issue No. 343 discussed the question of Jews in Russia at length. We quoted Jewish sources as estimating their numbers at from 1.5 million to 3.5 million. (NOTE: Your editor guessed 5 million.) Now, "Atlanta Constitution" correspondent Louis Salome in Jerusalem of Aug. 12 said the new figure is estimated at from 5 to 10 million Jews, part Jews and those married to Jews.

Salome writes that this entire number wishes to leave Russia for America. He estimates that some 150,000 will go to Israel this year but that this is but the first leg on the journey to their eventual destination which is the U.S.A.

Jewish Week of Aug. 3rd reports that there is such a severe housing shortage and lack of jobs that 40,000 Israeli Jews will leave for America this year. The same article stated that since Israel was founded as the "homeland for the Jews" some 800,000 have moved to America with 200,000 living in New York and 200,000 in Los Angeles. Thus America is being invaded by Jews from both Russia and Israel. Considering their "sharp business practices" in every field they enter. What would life be like in America should our already burdensome Jewish population be increased by some 10 million more Jews !

Why Not A "Christian Heritage Week ?"

Jewish Heritage Week has been celebrated in New York City for 15 years. It is officially sanctioned by the city and run by the Jewish Community Relations Council. Their stated purpose is to "educate public high school students to topics sensitive to Jews. The JCRC distributes resource materials dealing with the Holocaust and Israel to more than 225 city schools."

The JCRC says that the object of this program is to "dispel negative stereotypes of Jews." It should be noted that the alleged holocaust has been officially incorporated into the Jewish religion. Thus such a program is in violation of the U.S. Constitution.

Since there has been no objection over this outrage Organized Jewry has decided to take this program nation-wide and Jewish Rep. Charles Schumer has introduced a bill into Congress which declares the week of May 7 - 14th as National Jewish Heritage Week.

Schumer says that these dates were chosen because Israel was founded on May 10th. It requires that the President

Jerusalem Post photo of Aug. 18, shows warehouse packed with huge cargo lifts of Russian Jews' furnishings. This is merely a stopover for most to their final destination in the U.S. These are not poor "refugees" but professional people, lawyers, engineers, doctors, etc. Note the article below from the Jerusalem Post of Sept. 9. There are so many Jews fleeing the economic collapse in Russia that 30,000 Jewish doctors are expected. They will be trying to make money by "generating unnecessary prescriptions, examinations and consultations" - (to say nothing of the unnecessary operations !). These are the same types of Jews flooding into the U.S. from Russia.

Flood Of Jewish Doctors (Below from Jerusalem Post)

By LEA LEVAVI

Most Soviet immigrant doctors will have to be retrained, according to Hadassah Medical Organization Director-General Professor Shmuel Penchas.

They could be retrained as nurses, high school science teachers, or laboratory workers, because the country does not need tens of thousands more physicians, he said. Israel already has one doctor for every 250 people, among the highest ratios in the world.

"I don't think the government has given any real thought to the question of what to do with these people," he told The Jerusalem Post. "Sending them all to complete [doctors] licensing courses ... will raise unrealistic expectations, and one can also be cruel and say it wastes money. If we create hidden unemployment by hiring physicians nobody needs, not only will we not be raising the gross national product, but we'll be lowering it," Penchas said, "because unnecessary prescriptions, examinations and consultations will be generated."

"I don't know what we're going to do with the remaining thousands [of doctors] since 3 percent of the immigrants are doctors and a million immigrants are expected - that's 30,000 doctors."

Russian Jews Deprive American Seniors of Housing

Senior Citizen Housing Given To Russian Jews

America is suffering from a terrible housing shortage for our Senior Citizens. The fact that this is a crisis problem is affirmed by the fact that there are over 400,000 seniors in Los Angeles alone who are on waiting lists for Section 8 subsidized housing (according to the Hollywood Independent of 5/16/90.)

Some 30,000 are among the homeless living in parks or in tents in wooded areas under dangerous conditions. We have learned that elderly Russian Jews (just off the boat) are being settled in new modern Section 8 housing ahead of U.S. citizens. Most do not even speak English and converse in Yiddish. They have never paid one dime into the Social Security program yet they are granted special preference !

"75% From Soviet Union"

Note on this page the report from "Hollywood Independent" of 4/11/90. It states that the North Kings Road seniors project consists of "75% Jews from the Soviet Union". This is outright discrimination against America citizens as a direct result of the undue influence which the 124 Jewish Political Action Committees (PACs) hold over our government. (NOTE: We White Christians - and Negroes too - do not have even one single PAC !)

One of our readers has furnished us with a list of the tenants residing in North Kings Rd. Their names run from Falbaum to Gotlieb to Kalman to Leichter to Sverdlov. The true Jewish occupancy rate is at least 95% Jewish !

Hollywood Independent

Loneliness Kills by David Keller

Just ask Alexis Alexander, who remembers a couple that lived in the West Hollywood senior citizen public housing project she manages.

At the North Kings Road senior project, however, Alexander says the crisis is compounded by the fact that many of her tenants are immigrants. At least 75 percent of the 110 or so people who live in the affordable project are from other countries, primarily the Soviet Union.

"We do have a unique situation here but it is happening everywhere !"

Anti-Christian Discrimination

Federal law mandates "impartial tenant selection", however we must recognize that the Jew Edmund D. Edelman is the Los Angeles Housing Commissioner in charge of the North Kings Road Apartments. A report in our hands states that Edelman personally chose the Beverly Hills location for the $3.6 million project. There can be little doubt that he also arranged for special preference for the "75% Soviet Jew" occupancy.

This is a prime example of the gross discrimination which Christians suffer as a direct result of Jewish influence within our government. It is high time such blatant bias against American Seniors be exposed and stopped. If the Jews, (who are bankrolled with unlimited funds), cannot take care of these hordes who are invading our country then they should either be forced to move to Israel or remain in Russia.

Why should they be allowed to become a burden to the U. S. taxpayer and displace our own deserving Senior Citizens ???

July 18, 1990

Dear Ms. _____

Thank you for your letter asking if funding for the Kings Road senior citizen housing project was provided by local, state, or federal agencies.

Although administered by the Los Angeles County Community Development Commission, actual funding for construction was provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, a federal agency. I am also taking the liberty of forwarding your letter to Mr. David M. Lund, Executive Director of the Community Development Corporation. By copy of this letter, I am asking that his office respond directly to you with additional information regarding the nature of funding for the Kings Road housing project.

"Don't Stir Gentile Resentment" - Says Rabbi

By Dr. Ed Fields

(Below from "Kashrus Magazine" of 12/88)

Why The Tiny Kosher Symbol

by Rabbi Yosef Wikler

Let's face it, symbols have much value both to the kosher consumer and the kosher manufacturer. To the manufacturer, the symbol represents a way of telling the consumer that the product is "orthodoxly kosher" without using bulky phraseology such as "under strict orthodox rabbinical supervision." A concise kashrus symbol requires a minute amount of the precious label space and does not stir resentment on the part of the gentile consumer market.

To the kosher consumer, a symbol conjures up the image of a huge orthodox kashrus organization dedicated to round-the-clock supervision of his product. Therefore, it is to the benefit and profit of a new organization to develop a catchy new symbol to show respectability and sophistication in kashrus supervision.

The court challenge was brought by the Ran-Dan County Kosher butcher shop. The Union of Orthodox Rabbis, the (U) group, declared that Ran-Dan violated the New Jersey Kosher Food Law by paying Rabbi Harry Cohen to certify his meat as Kosher. Cohen is not a member of the Orthodox Union and they did not receive any kick-back from his fees!

(Below from "Jewish Week" 8/10/90)

New Jersey Court Holds Kosher Food Tax Legal

The New Jersey court of appeals ruled 2-to-1 in favor of upholding the state's Kosher Food Law as constitutional. (Note: All food products imprinted with either a (K) or (U) have paid a secret tax to a Rabbinical organization.)

New Jersey Court Holds Kosher Law Constitutional

In a case closely monitored by New York officials, a New Jersey appellate court has ruled that New Jersey's kosher laws are constitutional.

In upholding New Jersey's right to enforce kosher food regulations against a Linden, N.J., firm accused of violating state requirements, two members of the three-judge panel said New Jersey's regulations are constitutional because they were designed to protect consumers who purchase kosher food.

The outcome of the case was of such concern to New York officials that State Attorney General Robert Abrams filed a friend-of-the-court brief in support of New Jersey's kosher law. Although aspects of New York's kosher law have been previously upheld by the courts, this was the first challenge to the constitutionality of New Jersey's regulation, which governs the proper preparation and labeling of food sold as kosher.

The New Jersey regulation became effective in 1984 and is based upon New York's 1915 kosher law. Abrams said he feared that if the New Jersey regulation were overturned, that action "could be given great weight in other states and could influence New York's ability to enforce its own statutes regarding kosher products."

In addition to New York and New Jersey, 15 other states have laws that seek to protect consumers of kosher food, including Ohio, Connecticut, Texas and California.

The New Jersey challenge to that state's law was brought by Ran-Dav County Kosher. The firm insisted in court papers that by basing its kosher regulation on Orthodox Jewish rules, the state was establishing "a state-sponsored religion."

"Religious practitioners whose religious conviction holds that 'kosher' is something other than the meaning assigned by representatives of the state's favored sect may be branded 'outlaws' under New Jersey's Criminal Code and otherwise civilly penalized under the regulations here challenged," said the suit.

It went on to assert that the state was seeking to ban Ran-Dav from the kosher food business because its products, although prepared under the supervision of an Orthodox rabbi, Harry Cohen, "allegedly do not comport with the state's notion of what 'kosher' means to Orthodox Jews."

Introduces Bill To Make Kosher Food Law Nation-Wide

Rep. Stephen J. Solarz

Rep. Solarz Introduces Federal Kosher Law

Brooklyn Rep. Stephen Solarz has seized upon the New Jersey court decision to introduce a bill in Congress which would make it a federal crime to violate Jewish Kosher Food Laws!

The enclosed article clearly explains that the bill would make any withdrawal of Kosher certification cause to force the removal of the product from the market. This could put the food producer out of business.

This draconian measure would also impose heavy fines and imprisonment! Should the Congress adopt this measure America would certainly have become a Jewish nation and would no longer be a Christian nation. Solarz has deceptively named this bill, "The Public Disclosure of Religious Dietary Certification Act."

Write your Congressman for a copy of this bill and ask how he intends to vote on this anti-Christian measure. It obviously violates the Constitutional guarantee of separation of church and state!

(Below from Jewish Week - bill would give Rabbis great power over food companies - thus allowing them to extort ever increasing sums each time a Kosher contract is renewed.)

First federal kosher consumer bill introduced in Congress by Solarz

WASHINGTON — A bill designed to combat deception in the kosher food industry and to make certification of kosher food products more accessible to the public has been introduced into the House of Representatives.

The legislation, introduced last week by Rep. Stephen J. Solarz (D-Brooklyn), is described as the first such federal kashrut bill. It was developed at the initiation of the Washington office of Agudath Israel of America, a New York-based Orthodox organization, and was drafted under the guidance of Washington attorney Nathan Lewin.

Coors Brewery has just paid a six-figure sum to the Union of Orthodox Rabbis for their Kosher certification. Please note that Rabbi Goldberg states that the 8 page contract must be renewed every year - at an ever

The bill would require any packaged product shipped across interstate lines bearing a kashrut mark or symbol to be listed with the Food and Drug Administration. The "large majority" of the estimated 17,000 products certified as kosher in the United States would be covered by the bill's provisions, according to David Zweibel, Agudah general counsel.

Manufacturers would be required to provide the FDA with the name, address and phone number of the supervising agency or rabbi and other relevant information. They would also be bound by law to inform the increasing amount of money.

Rabbi Goldberg also says they can pull "surprise inspections" at any time without warning. What this article omits is that Coors must pay all the expenses of the Rabbis who Manufacturers accused of using misleading symbols would be subject to penalties brought by the FDA, including withdrawal of the product from the market, stringent fines and criminal penalties.

The legislation will encourage manufacturers whose products carry a plain, unadorned letter "K," which often signifies the manufacturer's own determination that the product is kosher, to seek supervision from an established kashrut monitoring organization, Zweibel said.

Keystone Light and Winterfest — should carry the circle-U symbol "no later than January," company spokesman Don Shook said.

Denver Rabbi Hillel Goldberg, executive editor of the weekly Intermountain Jewish News, called the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, "The largest and most prestigious kosher certifier in the world."

Goldberg said it is likely that only about 1 million U.S. Jews keep kosher households.

In order to achieve kosher certification, Coors had to submit to a series of detailed inspections of its brewing and packaging facilities as well as its beers' ingredients.

The brewer also signed a detailed one-year, renewable, eight-page contract with the union. Shook said the company would not reveal the financial terms of the contract, but he did say that the agreement obligates Coors to open its doors to unannounced inspections by kosher certifiers.

Coors delayed the announcement until it could change about 90% of the Coors, Coors Lite and Coors Extra Gold packaging to include the union's famous symbol, a capital "U" within a circle.

David Duke Wins Regardless Of Election Results

Groundwork Laid For Powerful Organization

David Duke's campaign for the U.S. Senate has developed the strongest grass-roots organization seen since the days of Gov. George Wallace. However, with blacks making up 27% of Louisiana's registered voters it may not be possible for Duke to win a state wide race.

Still he will do so well in rural areas, (sweeping the northern half of the state), he may be able to walk into a Congressional seat in 1992. Here is the power base of popular support which will insure that Duke will remain a force in Louisiana politics for years to come:

1) Duke's rallies draw thousands of people. His ultra-liberal opponent, Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, is afraid to hold a rally out of fear that no one will show up!

2) Duke has raised $1.3 million, (82% from within his state.) Thus he was able to spend $300,000 for a very effective half-hour TV program which was broadcast during prime time over every major station in the state.

Duke asked viewers to phone a 900 number which would cost $10 on their phone bill as a donation to his campaign. He raised $88,000!

Sen. Johnston only runs one-minute spot adds because he knows that most people will switch channels if he gives them enough time.

3) Duke has been able to open 29 local campaign headquarters throughout Louisiana. They are all staffed with volunteer workers.

4) Duke has built up a mailing list of over 90,000 names of loyal and dedicated followers. They will support him long after this election is over.

Local Issues Hit Home

Duke has revealed that most of the $6 million Sen. Johnston has come from Jewish Political Action Committees (PACs). Also Jewish movie mogul Lew Wasserman, who produced that anti-Christian film, "The Last Temptation of Christ", raised huge sums for Johnston.

Duke has made an issue out of the high Negro crime and drug problem in New Orleans which has driven 79,000 Whites out of the city lowering the population under 500,000.

Duke said:

"The underclass is unwilling to accept even the minimal obligations of citizenship: to go to school, keep a job, obey the law, and not conceive children they cannot afford.

"Recently a New Orleans mother and her three teenage daughters were all made pregnant by the same man. They said - 'the more kids the bigger the welfare checks.' The line has got to be drawn somewhere!

"Sen. Johnston voted for Ted Kennedy's Civil Rights Bill of 1990. It will establish job quota discrimination against White people. Now you have the opportunity to send someone to Washington who will speak out openly on these critical issues."

Quayle Opposes Senate Bid Of Ex-KKK Leader Duke

Vice President Dan Quayle said recently the White House is opposed to the U.S. Senate candidacy of David Duke, a Republican elected last year to the Louisiana House of Representatives and a former KKK leader.

If Duke winds up in a runoff election against the Democratic incumbent, J. Bennett Johnston Jr., the White House definitely plans to take action, the vice president said. "There's no question about what we're going to do, but I'm not going to answer that right now because we're not there. I mean, we are opposed to David Duke and have opposed him all along," he explained.

Dan Quayle

Secret White House Plot Against Duke

Note the article below from the Negro "Jet Magazine", Aug. 6 in which Vice President Dan Quayle mentions a secret White House plot against David Duke. We have learned what it is. Should Duke get into a runoff with Sen. Johnston his good friend Bush will come to Louisiana to campaign for him. It should be noted that they both are backed by the same big-oil interests.

Grabowski Threatened

Grabowski is the outspoken editor of the Polish newspaper, "The Post Eagle". He is running for New Jersey's 9th District Congressional seat presently held by Rep. Robert Torricelli - an ultra liberal!

The death threat mentions the name of a White Russian, anti-communist named Soobsokov of Patterson, N.J. He was assassinated with a car bomb in 1985. The FBI listed the Jewish Defense League as a chief suspect in the case.

The threat included a "calling card" of the Jewish Defense Organization with obscene wording. This group's head, Mmordeci Levy, is presently free on bond after being charged with gunning down an innocent White Christian in Brooklyn. Grabowski immediately notified the FBI but they showed little interest in his case. Chester has therefore armed himself to deal with any attacker.

My Reply To Sen. Nickles

I have just received a letter from Sen. Don Nickles requesting that I serve in an advisory capacity on Pres. Bush's "Republican Presidential Task Force."

I replied that I had no other choice but to decline the invitation. I wrote Sen. Nickles that I am very disappointed with the way in which Bush has handled the affair with Iraq. I believe that he is deliberately making "a mountain out of a molehill."

I believe that Bush is using this as a coverup of the economic collapse here at home. I wrote:

Bush Blames Hussein

Bush blames the high price of oil on Hussein. Why then don't we buy oil from Saddam Hussein since he wants to sell it cheaply.

Bush says we are fighting against aggression and must restore the rightful rulers to the throne. My reply is that Kuwait was a part of Iraq for hundreds of years and why should we fight for a brutal tyrant like Sheik Al-Sabah? The truth is that we are really fighting for Gulf Oil and BP Oil drilling rigs in Kuwait.

Bush blames the recession on Hussein. I say that Bush has failed to stop deficit spending.

Bush blames the crisis with Iraq on Hussein. But was not Bush the first, and for a long time, the only leader in the world calling for war!

Stop The Warmongering

In this issue we cover the Iraq crisis from A-to-Z. When your friends read this freedom of speech newspaper they will have the WHOLE story. Help us awaken and inform the multitudes out there who know that something is seriously wrong here but simply do not have the facts at hand. There is certainly something "rotten in Denmark" here!

Please order and distribute extra copies of THE TRUTH AT LAST. Let us shout the truth from the rooftops. We are not going to fight any wars for Big Oil and for Israel! Rush your letter off to me today!

Boycott Coors Beer

By Dr. Ed Fields

Coors Beer is the first and only brewery in the world to claim that they have now become "Kosher" as a result of actions taken by the Union of Orthodox Rabbis. Dr. Fields discussed this problem with four employees of Coors. I asked them two very simple questions:

First, how much money are you paying for Kosher certification?

Secondly, what changes were made in your product to make it Kosher?

I talked with Don Shook, spokesman for Coors. He told me that the fee paid was a secret. I informed him that another employee had informed me that it was in the six figure range. Shook did not deny this. Thus we know that they are paying anywhere between $100,000 and $900,000 for this totally unnecessary service!

As to the second question Shook told me that there had been absolutely no change whatsoever in the Coors formula since it had become Kosher. In other words it is the very identical beer it has always been.

It Is Impossible To Make Beer Kosher

Next I informed Shook that one of the world's foremost authorities on Kosher requirements, Mrs. Trude Weiss-Rosmarin, has declared that it is not possible to make any cola drink or beer Kosher! (Kosher means that no meat can be mixed with any dairy product to make a final food item.) I asked Shook if there were any meat or dairy products mixed in with the Coors formula. He answered - "NO."

Thus there is absolutely no way in which Coors or any other beer can be made Kosher. Thus to claim that Coors has suddenly become Kosher is simply a fraud on the American consumer - AND WE ARE PAYING FOR IT!

Americans who buy the Coors' products will be contributing hundreds-of-thousands of dollars to finance Orthodox Talmudic schools and even Kibbutz communes on the West Bank of Palestine against the wishes of the U.S. State Department. Even William Zukerman, another Jewish expert on the Kosher process says that this is nothing more than a racket and a scandal!

We Must Boycott Coors

Remember that Coors is the first brewery in the world to succumb to paying the Kosher tax. If this is not reversed it will spread to other beer companies and multi-millions will be going to a basically anti-Christian organization.

Coors maintains a toll-free consumer information phone line. Tell Mr. Shook that you are joining the National Boycott of all Coors' products. Alert your friends to do likewise. Coors' phone: 1-800-642-6116. Also write the company president % "Coors Brewery," Golden, Colorado, 80401.
