Dear Sir/Madam:

Sun., June 29, 1997

This morning we heard Diane Rust Tierney from ACLU on C-SPAN explaining why she opposes the Death Penalty. We concur with our nation's death penalty laws because the individual who voluntarily takes another human life should expect to forfeit his own. I think it would be more humane and quicker and less expensive to waste no time after one is convicted of murder to put the criminal in front of a firing squad - justice sure and fast!

Sincerely

M. J.
