C-SPAN is certainly the most far-reaching innovation in democratic government since its inception, and the praise is yours.

The only thing I would change is the music used during votes or between programs. There is something ludicrous about The House voting to a Haydn trumpet concerto. Now, I am not suggesting popular junk, only noting that there is a vast body of serious American music: Copland, Bernstein, Cowell, Piston, Barber, Ives, MacDowell, et al.

Anyhow, congratulations again.
