Thank you once again for wonderful public service broadcasting:- Just as I had become aware that I had never seen a program regarding Indian affairs--up popped La Donna Harris which was an extra treat because I was reading "Robert Kennedy and His Times/Schlesinger" wherein a meeting between RFK and LaDonna Harris is mentioned--

Also, it was wonderful to see Eugene McCarthy--and the recent appearance of Geroge McGovern at the Press Club--

It's all wonderful -- and I'm a walking ,talking centerpiece of enthusiasm for C-SPAN wherever I go and whenever I can be-- trying to get everyone tuned in--

But today, I want to thank you for Michael Parenti -- I'm just reading "Democracy for the Few" -- and for the Women Strike forPeace-- It was so wonderful to actually hear him speak--

And--for the full broadcast of Fund for New Priorities in America--
"October Surprise" -- Nowhere else could we see the entire panel discussions--

While I've always been taught and encouraged that the best education you can get, you will give yourself, and have tried to practice that thinking and pass it on to my children -- it is meaningless without public service broadcasting and at least libraries with courage--

Thank you all for C-SPAN!

Dedicated C-Spanner

PS: Did I recommend to you "Deadly Deceit" by Jay Gould---- (Dixie Lee Ray was toooooo much!)
