Why would you have two liberal women on the Round table? Where's fairness,

I did enjoy Howard Moulton speaking about lobbying. I understood what he was saying and I found him to be refreshing.

Thanks,

We, too, join the rank of people who are disappointed in C-Span's decision to begin and keep the 3 separate phone lines.

Before this happened, we heard the real pulse of the people. Now, the responses are controlled or staged in an attempt to be fair.

This changes the effectiveness of C-Span to be unbiased and it changes the perception of the attitudes of your callers because you are hiding the numbers of people for or against people or events in Washington.

We watch much less now because the voices of the people are not being heard unfiltered.

For the conservative, you were our only hope. CNN and the major networks cannot hide their bias; nor do they really try.

We enjoy your dialogue with people and your "book notes".

Sincerely,

O.W)
