

Dear Mr. Lamb:

March 30, 1994

I watch C-SPAN when I get the chance and in recent weeks I've noticed a heavy preponderance of calls from the South. Most of those calls are highly critical of the President and I believe unfairly presents a very biased political picture to viewers.

Since most opinion polls are still about 50:50 on President Clinton, can't C-SPAN try and get a better regional balance on their calls to achieve a degree of fairness? Quite frankly, I find the heavy President-bashing that's occurring on C-SPAN to be quite disturbing.

Sincerely,

[Redacted]
Allentown, PA 18103-6338

Mr. Brian Lamb
E-SPAN
400 Capital Street, N.W.
Suite 155
Washington, D.C. 20001