

[REDACTED]
Sumter, South Carolina 29150

April 19, 1984

The following page contains my entry in the "Why I Watch C-Span" contest.

Succinctly speaking: I watch C-Span because it cuts out the middle man. I hear with my own ears, see with my own eyes, feel the original emotions, smell the roses or the herring, taste a sample of what is happening in our world, and interpret with my own mind what has been so interestingly presented on the TV screen.

In this day & time, with fast and remarkable changes, I want to keep up and be an informed participant in our great democracy.

Those who call in with a question, a viewpoint well-thoughtout, an opportunity to express a prejudice, indulge an irrationality, are well handled by knowledgeable experts that C-Span has provided for the issue at hand who knows, maybe into this big sifter of words and thought might come some really new ideas, or ways to understand and use the old.

These presentations on C-Span are a challenge in fairness and honesty worthy of our best minds, that America be reenforced in freedom and morality.

In Sincerity,