Dear Ms or Sir:

Who is that, thin guy with the mustache I frequently see interviewing people on C-SPAN? I find it uncomfortable to watch someone whose jaw bones are so pronounced & easily discernable * Since I am interested in hearing what people have to say, its not like I'm ready to just execute my freedom of choice and change the station. Perhaps its my "homo phobia" that is stirred every time I see someone who meets the criteria I have for homosexuals i.e. Thin, short cropped, hair & mustaches, wearing a lot of MUSK - but that is, of course a personal problem - likewise is my uneasiness I feel from anorexia, or anorectic people. Anatomy lessons
* maybe, like, not the best word choice should be left in the Science room, not on national television
