Dear C-Span,

How are you all? Fine, I hope and pray. As for myself, just heavenly, thank you all. Thanks, to such royal-ly gloriously award-winning TV programs and channels like yourselves.

Now, I - along with many others, I hope - want to award-winningly praise you all for your presidential winning series - these last weeks - about all of the presidents of America.

Presently, I would like to make a few notations about one presidency, former President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. That we Americans and even the world should remember forever about all

Leaders and nations, if we all are going to perpetually and eternally going to securely save our societies, and institutions.

Now, one note about former President F. D. Roosevelt is that he possibly forever showed all nations that one of the best ways - leaders included - to save, secure and perpetuate your nation and societies is that for the government and institutions to - when they can and have them and are able to - when the people of the nation need at least survival assistance and can't do ~~them~~ immediately for themselves, helps the people out in anyway they can with the governmental and institutional resources to survive and sustain themselves with until they are able to survive and sustain themselves on their own.

Then, the people in many ways came together militarily and civilly - when they had to - to help President F. D. Roosevelt's republic to master and conquer some of the world's - in two world's theatres - greatest technically and industrially developed, advanced and modernized war mongering and shaking nations and empires the world had ever seen. And, gave him the victory posthumously.

Too, another notation of President F. D. Roosevelt's own we all should note, is his cabinet officer Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, who started a national policy for World War II that should never be forgotten for all of eternities, and that is "Let those who can make the money make the money, and those who can fight the war fight the war."

So, that we can all make it and win.

And, now a final notation about President F. D. Roosevelt all of our present and future to come presidents, leaders, people and institutions we hope and pray always remember and that is that he, F. D. R., gave his Armed Forces and people the greatest and bestest national all out support and resources of all. And, so did he reap and got the biggest, fightingest, winningest and best-est military war machine, forces and citizenry in the world. Though, posthumously, they all gave him a world victory and the world.

And, now and finally, thanks for your national and world educating and leading C-Span television station and programs.

I thank you very, very much,
