Dear Mr. Hamby

So enjoyed your program on Christmas Day on public speakers. Today's program was equally as interesting. Might I be so bold and tardy to suggest three names for ^{memorable} public speakers former Gov(s) Frank Clement and Adlai Stevenson. As you will remember Clement in '56 then Governor of TN gave the keynote address at the Dem. Convention, I was a 17 yr. old page to Sen. Estes/Kelover and stood in the convention hall and heard this amazing address which was better received among the delegates than those at home watching it on TV. Stevenson was a different

Dear Mr. Lamb

So enjoyed your program on Christmas Day on public speakers, today's program was equally as interesting. Might I be so bold and tardy to suggest three names for ^{memorable} public speakers former Gov(s) Frank Clement and Adlai Stevenson. As you will remember Clement in '56 then Governor of TN gave the keynote address at the Dem. Convention, I was a 17 yr. old page to Sen. Estes /McKever and stood in the convention hall and heard this amazing address which was better received among the delegates than those at home watching it on TV. Stevenson was a different type speaker. My third suggestion is Herbert A. Humphrey for whom I worked (66-68) who had the touch of Stevenson and the fire of Frank Clement (whom I never supported, my family was of the Kefauver-Gore wing of the TN Dem. Party, but whom since his passing I have come to respect). HHHH was a very kind man with a sense of humor who on the morning of my wedding called me from his home in Waverly to wish me well, like Kefauver he cared about his stuff. I do so appreciate your direction of C-Span - thank you.
