Dear Mr. Lamb:

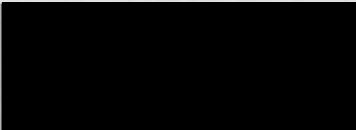

I listen regularly to your Booknotes program and enjoy it very much. Yesterday when I tuned in to the 11:00 P. M. (EST) broadcast, I was disappointed to find that you were carrying some congressional speeches instead.

Since I assumed that the 11 o'clock Booknotes program would still be carried, but not knowing when, I proceeded to tape the next six hours. This morning as I ran through the tape, I found that you had carried other programs and had eliminated the repeat of the Booknotes program.

I am surprised that when you preempt a regularly scheduled program that you do not at least announce the change with a ribbon across the face of the TV, or make some other effort to inform your audience. I am sorry to have missed the interview with Mr. Reeves.

If you have a program schedule for general distribution without charge will you please have a copy sent to me.

Sincerely,

002574 270 393
