Dear C-SPAN:

Ever since C-SPAN was available in my home, about five years ago, I have valued the unique coverage of our national government as presented by C-SPAN. It is varied, clear, impartial, and always (well nearly always) extremely informative. Especially Brian Lamb and Susan Swain and the other members of the staff maintain a focus and commentary that add substantially to the coverage. Brian's, and others, Booknotes and other such reviews and interviews are often riveting experiences.

National Public Radio, ATC and Morning Edition, are daily sources of news in our household because of the convenience of radio. However, the direct first hand coverage of Congress, and recently the special feature coverage such as the "E. Ben Hill" program last night (that I had too little time to watch in its entirety), Imas and the Limbaugh shows are extremely enlightening as to the personalities involved and both stated and hidden issues. Your usual fairness and impartial questioning are essential to the quality of coverage.

C-Span II shares air time with other programming here in our county. Still the coverage is most welcomed.

I am sending a copy of this to my local cable company.

Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely yours,
