o. Amer Pres

Gentlemen,

I love you for the series on American Presidents, it is wonderful.

Since you will be coming to Quincy for the life of John Quincy Adams I would like you to know of a problem I had there.

I love early American history and so I went to Quincy where I knew there was much to see, however I was not allowed to see anything.

I suffer from anxiety attacks and cannot ride on buses! When I went to buy tickets to the houses I wanted to see I was told I could not do that, I had to take a tour bus and take the whole tour. I told them of my problem and they said it was just not allowed.

I then drove to John Adams House and was told by the guide that I couldn't go in even tho I offered to pay.

I find it ironic that I was not allowed to visit the home of one of the men who fought for democracy in this country.

I guess I will have to watch it on your series.
