Dear Sir,

With C-Span we have an openness of communication. Before watching C-Span I wasn't aware of what sort of activity that went on within Congress and different committee meetings.

Many issues, such as Medicare benefits, social and military programs are discussed in depth.

Human rights and international affairs are put before you in different hearings with different view points. It is informative and educational and helps one to understand and to become aware of our own responsibilities.

C-Span gives one insight into the House of Representatives. It introduces representatives from other areas and we become acquainted and respectful of their individual beliefs and courage. One can actually see the unities of the parties and differences.

We find it very interesting and my wife and I often discuss how more informed we can become by watching C-Span. Its history in action and educational. Live

C-Span is a credit to the technology of television and we sincerely appreciate receiving it in our home.

yours truly,
