Dear Brian:

We are still receiving calls about your terrific series on the American Presidents, as well as C-SPAN's moving telecast of George Washington's funeral. Thank you again for helping us to share this event with the nation.

The year 2002 marks the 200th anniversary of the death of Martha Washington, who passed away here at Mount Vernon on May 22, 1802. Because so little is known about her death and funeral, we are not planning another reenactment, although we are creating several programs which we hope will spotlight her great contributions to our nation.

It crossed my mind that a new C-SPAN series on First Ladies might be almost as popular as the presidency series. We would be pleased to work with you regarding a Martha Washington program, which could be timed with the anniversary and the publication of two new Martha Washington biographies.

Please let me know if this concept interests you at all, and if so, how we can help with the planning process.

Again, our thanks for your past support, and all best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Hope all is well
