To BRIAN LAMB

I wasn't going to pursue the matter of your not reading my fax (copy enclosed and sent 3/19/94), on your 3/21/94 Monday morning 'journalist show' because I didn't want to consider myself obsessive or a spoiled-sport. But then I got to thinking, what if a staff member tore it up because he/she was a member of the religious right who, without your knowledge, infiltrated your organization, on the other hand, you decided not to read it because it wasn't appropriate to the context of the program, I can also live with that too. In any event, I think it would be in order to inform your viewers that their fax (unlike a telephone call) might not be aired because of editorial prerogatives.

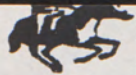

Since I have been a fan of C-5 you from the beginning and did make the effort of going to the fax office and ~~spending $3.00~~ spent three-dollars, you might want to have Haynes back sometime in the near future so he might be given the opportunity of answering my question.

I remain,

Brian, I have been a fan since the beginning - keep up the objectivity and balance.

Question for Haynes Johnson:

It is obvious to anyone who has eyes to see and ears to hear that there is a well orchestrated, well-financed assault on the press in particular and on the media in general by the Conservative movement. The media has been inundated by politicians and political operatives guided by columnists; radio-show talk-hosts; think-tank ideologues; and empire-building-entrepreneurs better known as the religious-right. What danger do you see for journalism in particular and for America in general from this assault? Regards. [REDACTED]
