Dear C-Span,

I wonder if President Clinton was watching C-Span April 25 when all manner of disgusting things were aired to the nation.

I wonder if he now regrets having his letter of unabashed support read to the crowd of supporters for gay rights.

I wonder if he really wants to stand with a group who shamelessly promote and flaunt their immorality and promiscuous lifestyle.

I wonder if Bill Clinton can convince his wife that one of the speakers, who boldly expressed a desire to practice a sexual act with Hillary (to put it delicately), was not really serious.

I wonder what he was thinking as gutter language filled the air, frontal nudity was displayed, homosexual acts were practiced and the flag of the U.S. was desecrated.

The open celebration of homosexuality represents the final disconnect from a personal God. When a nation loses its power to resist immorality, it is headed for serious trouble.

I wonder if the man who now occupies the White House has ever pondered where his pandering to the homosexual lobby may lead our nation.

Shame on you C-Span for airing such behavior. It is wrong and counterproductive to society. April 25 was a sad day for America.

Sincerely,
