Dear Barry:

I wrote to you on November 27 and have not received a reply to date.

Many Americans are strongly opposed to Japanese trade practices, and their buying up our companies and our land, but feel that there is little if anything that they can do about it. I believe that there is plenty that they can do about it, both individually and collectively, and I've outlined some of these courses of action in my book "WAKE UP UNCLE SAMMY," recently published by Vantage Press.

I would be pleased to discuss my book on one of your future programs. Please let me know when it would be convenient to do this. A self-addressed envelope is enclosed for your convenience.

Kind Regards,
