@-Span:

My family (two adult 'children') and I wish to thank C-Span for its unbiased coverage of the Republican Convention in Houston this week.

We are out of patience with the commercial channels, as well as PBS, telling us what we heard and saw during the Convention. We also watched the recent Democrat Convention on C-Span, and the "news" media did not put the spin on events there as they did with the GOP.

We are concerned for those Americans who do not have cable.

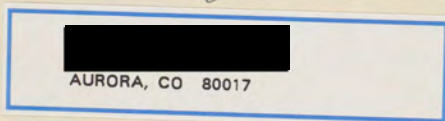

Over

They are being brain-washed by
ABC, CBS, NBC and PBS.

Of course, it may be understandable when you consider President Bush's threat of a veto on Congress's attempt to regulate cable television.

Please thank the cable industry for giving us fair and accurate coverage of events - with a real balance of points of view from both parties.

P.S. I tried 32 times to get through to @-span following the GOP convention Thursday evening.
