Dear Mr. Lamb,

Philip Teenyan turned me off this morning with his flip responses. Let me list two. When he disingenuously said that Senator Chafee was not part of the ownership of The Providence Journal, he had to be lying. The company is privately owned by several R.I. families including the Metcalfs and the Chafees. The Chafees have had management positions through the years. Most recently the Senator's brother was Treasurer until his retirement.

When you asked him where Villanova college was located, he gave you the snooty answer "Villanova" rather than a true reportorial response - a suburb of Philadelphia - that you wheedled out of him.

I don't consider him a useful panelist for interpretation of the news.

Sincerely,
[REDACTED]
