Dear Brian Lamb;

It seems rather a large percentage of callers are political, religious or social mal-contented whose diatribes are most unwelcome to the ears of reasonable people. Sure, we can shut them off by pushing a button.

However, I would be most concerned if the possibility of a concerted effort by a particular group was using C-SPAN for their own purposes. In all probability these thoughts have crossed your mind.

The highly partisan atmosphere that will grow in volatility as '94's decisions come before the government are not served well by anything but calm debate.

Please keep it cool

Sincerely,

C SPAN
