

For C-Span to rerun that tasteless and tacky Imus roast of the first family is an indication to me that the v chip is not needed. Imus is not very funny at all. I used to listen to his radioshow but he is so predictable and boring that I no longer do. For a responsible station to run this tripe a second time tells me a lot about what is happening to our country. You lads and lasses have let me down. I can not speak for others on this issue. I will continue to watch your show, especially the silly one-minute congressional speeches: they reaffirm my belief in what dunderheads we have sent to represent us. When you look again at the Imus tape, can you honestly tell me that it merits more interest than Ricki Lake's show?
