CSPAN

CSPAN is my favorite television show. It provides with updates on committees, commissions, Presidential Updates, etc.

My concern is in the area of background distractions. I'm listening to a speaker, and someone in the background moves, walks, whispers or just plain is distracting.

My mind is set on the speaker, however, it is difficult to concentrate when so many people are distracting in the background. I suggest that the person speaking be placed in front of a wall or distracting-proof background. This will eliminate distractions and breaks in concentration, or confusion to the mind. This will also improve the efficiency of CSPAN.
