

Dear Bryan,

May 1, 1999

Regarding your American President series, there is a bit of trivia about John Tyler you might find interesting when you do his biography. He is the only U.S. president to die outside the United States. He died in 1862 in Richmond which was then the capital of the Confederate States of America and not part of the U.S. Keep up the excellent work.

Sincerely,

Washington, DC 20036-6510
