Dear Mr Lamb

I was saddened and disappointed to see in your interview with Nan Robertson, one more example of how Italian-Americans are viewed as the last acceptable group for mindless stereotypical language.

Mrs Robertson's references to Ray Talea as "Southern Italian macho" and one who might practice "sicilian" abandonment of his daughters on hill sides etc. were by her own preachy standards unforgivable.

It was surprising that it was let pass after the understated outrage implied by the question of Franklin Roosevelt's reference to Jews.

I won't give up on your otherwise excellent programming but hope you will give my message some thought.

Sincerely Yours
