I watched a call-in program this morning that ended at 8:30<sup>PM</sup>, Central. I don't know the moderator but I want him to read this - he seemed fair - except he doesn't have anything but liberal reporters on.

I want you to know people I talk to disbelieve reporters. I don't believe any of them, including those you had on today - also, Dan Rather, Peter Jennings, etc. To me they are just puppets of the liberal networks.

Now, on the C-Span program, part of the conversation was about the far right fundamentalist. I want you to know the media is identifying Christians as far right fundamentalist. WRONG!

Fundamental in essence means bottom. To me bottom in this case (fundamentalist), means one without God. So the fundamentalist are atheist.

I drew this to communicate just in case you can't understand english.
The Bible says "straight and narrow path - center - notice above where center is."

Let me ask you a simple question.
If the Bible is the Word of God (and it is), and a person is a Christian, is a Christian suppose to live by just the parts he/she likes or pick and choose? If we have no choice, and we do not, we are to do God's will - then we are commanded by God to "Go, you, into all the World, teaching and preaching, baptizing, in the name of The Father, Son, and Holy Spirit." (not an exact quote). Read for yourself the exact quote.

Regardless, Christians are going to do Gods will regardless of the atheist, liberal news reporters, and liberal Godless democrats. (I'm not a republican or independent).

Respectfully,
